BELIEVE PEACE DEADLOCK BROKEN

London, April 10.—The Italians have demanded a reduction of Austria's armed forces in compliance with the armistice, but Austria has replied that the armistice was concluded with the old monarchy and does not bind the present government of German Austria, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Vienna today.

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, April 10.—A feeling of relief pervaded peace conference circles today over the evident break in the deadlock and the fresh impetus which has been given to the progress of the Big Four's negotiations.

Just how much President Wilson's order for the return of the liner George Washington had to do with this is a matter of speculation, but there is no doubt that speedier results followed its announcement.

Belief was again expressed today that the first peace treaty will be ready for German signatures within ten days, and the draft may be completed within a week.

But while troublesome German

'D K A' the Wireless Call of Fliers Over Atlantic

London, April 10.—"D K A" This is the wireless password for the transatlantic flight. The air ministry wirelessed all ships and seaports final instructions today on the attempt to cross the Atlantic by the air route. The three letters "D K A" at the end of a wirless message means that a transatlantic flier is calling for guidance and information. An answering shore station or liner will flash "D M Z," meaning "your message received."

It is possible that air currents may force a landing in Spain instead of Ireland, and it is understood that the Spanish government will help arrange to receive aviators coming that way.

Contrary to America reports it was stated here today that the fliers will be unable to carry drift calculation bombs because of their weight. It will be necessary for them to reckon the drift by observation of the waves.

ALEXANDER COCHRANE DIES AT AGE OF 79

Alexander Cochrane of this city died today at the age of seventy-nine. Mr. Cochrane, whose home was at No. 257 Commonwealth avenue, was a director of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company and of the New England Trust Company, a trustee of the Massachusetts Electric Company, and an officer in various philanthropic organizations. He was one of the original members of the New England Trust Company Board and the last member surviving. He was born in Scotland. He was proprietor of the Cochrane Chemical Company until three years ago, when he sold his interest.

GOVERNOR WILL USE POWERS TO END STRIKE

Governor Coolidge is stronger than ever for arbitration of the Lawrence strike, and more determined than before that such arbitration must be accepted by both sides, as a result of a conference at the State House today with business and professional men from Lawrence, headed by Mayor John J. Hurley.

Governor Coolidge said after the conference that his belief that everybody but the mill owners now favor arbitration had been deepened, until it was a conviction.

He emerged from the gathering with an evident purpose of using all his official prerogatives to force the mill men to agree to a compromise of the disastrous struggle, although he did not want to discuss this phase of the subject. "I would rather not say just now what I shall do if the owners refuse my offer," he said.

The conference was a thorough one, with the Governor making searching inquiries in an effort to come at the truth.

Governor Coolidge issued the following statement:

"The sentiment of the people of Lawrence, as indicated by these men with whom I have been meeting, is

QUINCY SCHOOL AUTO UPSETS, GIRL KILLED

One girl was killed, a boy was seriously hurt, two other girls and three other boys received lesser injuries and a man was severly shaken up when the automobile in which they were being driven to school turned turtle into a gutter on the down-grade of Rice's Hill on Adams street in Quincy today.

Finds "Dead" Brother Much Alive on the Mongolia

Some experience to go down the harbor to meet your "dead" brother, and find your brother very much alive to greet you.

That was the experience of "Jerry" Murphy of Cambridge, who went sorrowfully aboard the Guardian to welcome the Headquarters Company of the 102d Field Artillery, of which his brother, James H. Murphy, reported killed, was a member.

"Jerry" received a shock of surprise when he saw his brother standing on the upper deck of the Mongolia, and they exchanged enthusiastic greetings.

"Jerry" then broke the good news to his parents, who had just arrived, aboard the Monitor.

TEXAS TORNADO KILLS 167 AND INJURES 300

By International News Service.

Dallas, Tex., April 10.—Latest figures available today placed the number of killed by the tornado which swept Northern Texas, Southern Oklahoma and Arkansas at 167, with the list of injured expected to reach 300.

Early today reports reaching here placed the number killed in Texas at 137. Twenty-four are reported killed in Oklahoma, five in Arkansas and one in Missouri.

ROXBURY FAMILIES ARE DRIVEN OUT BY FIRE

Three families were driven to the street in scanty attire early today when fire broke out between the top floor and roof of a three-story frame dwelling at No. 13 Rockland street, Roxbury, owned by Delia Kelly. A defective flue was the cause. Deputy Chief Sennot found an elderly man wandering around the top floor trying to find the stairway in the thick haze and assisted him. The damage was about $1,500.

SHERBURNE'S HEROES ARE BACK

By JOHN W. MORAN, Jr.

A little old woman, dressed in black, with a more orless time-worn silken flag, gazed anxiously into the faces of the officers and men of the 51st Artillery Brigade, which debarked from the aransport Mongolia today and boarded trains for the cantonment at Ayer.

She had arrived at the pier as early as 3 o'clock, and, thanks to one of those enemies of every doughboy—the M. P.—she had been permitted to seek shelter from the early blasts that fanned Northern avenue and the great steel structure.

About 2,00 of them had gone ashore before she saw the lad she wanted, but when she saw him she was amply repaid for that long, cold vigil. She cried with joy, then danced with joy for her lad., Private Samuel Winters, had come home. She had heard that he was among those gassed at Verdun. She had wondered whether or not he would return to her. She saw him and with keen satisfaction written over her features she left the pier bound for home.

Private Winters was one of 4,709 lads who returned today and entrained almost at once for Camp Devens. He was but one of the great gathering which willingly arose slightly earlier than has been the custom and went to mess. He was one of the thousands who lined the rail from President Roads to Commonwealth Pier and he was but one of the thousands across whose face was written joy.

SHERBURNE'S BIG DAY.

To Brigadier-General Sherburne it was a home coming par excellence. So joyful was he that he found it difficult to talk with newspaper men who besieged him for some sort of a story. Almost hopelessly he tried to make himself known to those aboard the naval craft on which the members of the Legislature had gone down to greet the Mongolia. They were too far from him and couldn't make out his attempts to attract their eyes.

He gloried in it, and so did the buck private temporarily assigned to the much despised K. P. detail. In fact, the lads from the South and West were fully as cheery over the prospects of their immediate future as were those from Boston and other New England communities. The brigade came home in style, happy in the laurels they won in France, but happier still at the prospects of resuming civilian pursuits within the span of a month.

Conditions for the debarking today were slightly better than those which have prevailed. Experience proved a great teacher, and certain it is that some of those who have had to do with the handling of arriving troops had room for experience during the past week or two. Today trains were ready and plans completed for rapid movement to Devens. In fact, inside of three hours every man was rattling on his way to the great Ayer cantonment.

The Mongolia came into the harbor to the accompaniment of a glorious sunrise. For some of those who made the journey down it was a rarity. In fact, it might truthfully be stated that among the members of the parties that made up the several ships of the welcoming fleet so commonplace a thing as sunup was entirely unknown to them. But withal it was a thing of beauty.

Majestically the big steel steamer rode her anchor in President Roads awaiting the coming of the welcoming fleet. Riding lights were yet visible on a majority of the craft assembled. High up in the rigging aboard the Mongolia the forms of artillerymen were silhouetted against the sky.

CAME IN DURING NIGHT.

The big ship had come slowly into Boston harbor from out of the bay during the early morning hours. With a fleet of submarine chasers guiding her she had come through Broad Sound to the anchorage in President Roads. Mudhooks slapped down while heroes slumbered.

Suddenly the bugles rent the air. From their bunks and berths the thousands that went to make up General Sherburne's family stumbled out and made lines for the wash rooms. It was yet dusk, but down in the bowels of the big craft cooks were busy preparing the last breakfast afloat for the "best artillerymen in France." Of noise there was but little, for as yet none of the welcoming craft, save the press boat Halcyon II., captained by Lieutenant McDonough, had come alongside.

Meanwhile in Boston there was all sorts of feverish anxiety. Delegations from this place and that had been rushing here and there seeking the boats on which they were to make the trip down the bay. Soon after 5:30 the first of the fleet had left the docks in Boston. There was considerable activity throughout the inner harbor.

In the meantime the sun had been gathering strength. Suddenly, at 6:16, it cast its first rays through. From Fort Warren, not far aft of the Mongolia, the sunrise gun boomed its welkin. A fort on the Winthrop side apparently found sunup a few seconds later for its barking salute came long after Warren's report had ceased to be an echo. By that time the ice-breaker Rogday loomed into sight.

Aboard it were the members of the House and Senate from Beacon Hill come to greet John Sherburne. Governor Calvin Coolidge had come down aboard a submarine chaser and consequently was aboard the Mongolia when the legislators hove into sight. So too was Governor R. Livingstone Beeckman, when the representative of Little Rhody came down aboard a naval craft, and the ferry-boat John H. Sullivan.

It wasn't long after that before Major-General Clarence R. Edwards, "daddy" of the unit, came aboard from a submarine chaser, accompanied by his aide, Major John W. Hyatt. The cheer of welcome "the Old Man" received was one that brought him tense joy. He stood rigidly at salute during the cheering process, then climbed to one of the upper decks, where he soon found General Sherburne and the other senior officers.

When the press representatives went aboard, General Sherburne was having breakfast with Colonels John F. J. Herbert, John Aiden Twachtmann and Jacob Mack. The other officers, too, were having their breakfast. A minute or two later Governor Coolidge walked down the stairs to the dining saloon and was received with cheers by the officers seated at their breakfast.

"Don't let me interrupt you," said the Governor, "for I am merely here now seeking a cup of coffee myself. I want to welcome you back to Massachusetts, and to assure you that the old Bay State is proud of you. Anything Massachusetts can do for you she stands ready to do.

Having divested himself of this sentiment Governor Coolidge took his well known smile into a stateroom, where coffee was served him and Lieutenant-Governor Channing Cox and State Detective Edward Horrigan, the Governor's bodyguard. By this time General Sherburne had completed his breakfast, and with the brigade adjutant went to meet the transportation and debarkation officers from Northeastern headquarters.

Of heroes there were aplenty to see walking the decks. Officers and men alike were there with the Croix de Guerre or the Distinguished Service Cross to show admiring reporters. Some of them had interesting tales to relate, as, for example, Chaplain Farrell of the 102d Regiment, who in those peaceful days of a few years ago was a curate at St. Bernard's Church in West Newton, and who wasn't afraid to show that preaching the Word of God was his great mission in life.

General Sherburne had no crosses to show, nor did Colonels Herbert, Twachtmann or Mack, but they did have stories to tell regarding the bravery of their fighters. Colonel Mack commanded the 102d Artillerymen prior to Colonel Herbert and comes home now as an officer attached to the division. Colonel Herbert proudly displayed his orderly, Joseph C. Parent of Webster, a member of B Battery, who wore on his breast both the Croix de Guerre and the Distinguished Service Cross.

And it was with a world of pleasure that General Edwards went through the formality of pinning the Croix de Guerre on the chest of Norman E. Elliott of Webster, also a member of B Battery. For Elliott it was a genuine surprise, for right up to the minute of the actual decoration he was entirely ignorant of the fact that the French government had seen fit to honor him. He had spent seven months in German prison camps and for the greater part of that time it wasn't known whether or not he had been killed or captured.

Major "Dono" Minot of the 51st Brigade, who returned on the Mongolia, and his mother, his wife and his brother, Henry D. Minot. The group was photographed on Commonwealth Pier today. Major Minot was a famous Harvard football player a few years back.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE WELCOME

She was a retiring little old lady, probably from New Hampshire. At any rate the stamp of respectable, go-to-church-on-Sunday New Englandism was hard upon her. And, as the Monitor made its way down the harbor toward the Mongolia today, the little old lady in black tightly clutched a most carefully wrapped up parcel. When the Monitor reached the transport, the little old lady measured the distance, looked at her package, and sighed. At last a girl, sister to one soldier on the Monitor, and another returning on the Mongolia, came to her rescue. "You can't throw it," said she, with tact, "but my brother can. Let me lend you his 'good throwing arm,' which the sister loaned, and the little lady accepted.

But the lending of the "good throwing arm" of the young lady's brother was only the first chapter. Brother grasped the package. "They're molasses cookies, with plenty of ginger in them," the little old lady specified, with precision. "I baked them yesterday, just before I left on the train. If possible I'd like to have them go to the boy whose name is on the package—my grandson, you know. But never mind, so long's somebody gets 'em."

Brother grasped the bundle, gravely. His "good throwing arm" raised in air; with baseball sweep he hurled, and those ginger cookies, made yesterday, fell "kerplunk" into Boston harbor! The little old lady sighed, a good sport, nevertheless. "Cast your bread upon the waters and it will return after many days, the Good Book says," she quoted. "I wonder if that also applies to molasses cookies."

As the Monitor edged up to Commonwealth Pier to let off those passengers who had tickets for the dock reception, one woman eagerly pressed forward.

"Oh," she piped up, "oh, wonderful. Can't we get off here? Can't we stay here to see the soldiers when they land?"

"Ah, no," said her husband, "no, my dear, only politicians and mothers of soldiers are allowed on Commonwealth Pier."

The little woman sighed. "It's the first time in all my life I've regretted that all my children were six girls," said she. "Just think—to be the mother of a boy—this morning."

Ralph Burckes of No. 19 Crowder street, East Lynn, was the first boy to be recognized on the Mongolia when the Monitor went down to greet the transport. Perched apart, high on a smoke stack, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stacy Burckes, spied him out. In the Burckes party was also his brother and a friend, Miss Hazel White.

"More people to meet this transport than met any other," was the verdict of hotel men and taxicab starters. For at 10:30 last night, at six Boston hotels in regions downtown, there was not a room to be had. "All full up, and have been since afternoon," was the verdict. With taxicabs it was the same way. "Could use twice as many cars as we have," came back the reply to anxious queries. "Have been engaged days ahead. Everybody in Boston has relatives on this here transport."

* * *

Charles Eliot Ware, Jr., of the Mayor's Reception Committee was ready and anxious to meet persons at Eastern avenue today who would have the boldness to try to sail down the harbor without a ticket. "There's been too much laxity about tickets for the Monitor," said he, "and from now on, with the demand for tickets so great, we have to be careful not to overload the steamer. Disaster might overtake us, did we let aboard all who wish to come." Accordingly, Ware, with two stout henchmen at either side, read each ticket before Officer Doherty of City Hall let the holder on board. Four hundred persons are all that it is safe to take on the Monitor, and 400 were all that went. After the tickets were all taken, they were handed to Ware, who consigned them to Boston Harbor. "No second trips on those," was what he said.

Among those on board the Monitor, official reception boat for the city of Boston, were Dr. William R. Woodward, health physician, his two daughters, Mrs. Benjamin F. Pitman, Miss Helen Driscoll, daughter of Michael Driscoll of the Brookline School Committee, Mayor Peters, Councillor Ford and State Treasurer Charles L. Burrill.

The navy yard band furnished the music for the Monitor today at the harbor reception to the troops on the Mongolia. And Bandmaster John J. McNamara, who, with Chief Yeoman (F) Mrs. Daisy Erd, made the reception to Admiral Spencer S. Wood such a success at the Radio School last Saturday night, led the band. "Give 'em something snappy," is his recipe for tunes to please returning soldiers, "snappy, that's the word."

BURSTS OF JOY AS MOTHERS GREET SONS

A boat freighted with motherly love, with every pulse of her engines representing the concerted beating of the great mother heart—this was the U. S. S. Mayflower that poked her nose out of the dark of the dock on Northern avenue in the early hours into the rosy light of the morn, and the dawn of a happier day.

Mothers, sisters and wives thronged the boat—mothers who had stayed up all night—mothers who had sat for hours in the North Station or the South Station—mothers who counted no effort too great nor any sacrifice too tremendous for the chance of one glimpse of "my boy" on the brown, brown rail of the approaching transport.

And there were war brides, too—brides whose emotions nearly overcame them and who were threatened with an emotional crisis, as they stared and watched, peering at every face on the transport in a great effort to see "Him."

"HE" WAS THERE.

One of these was Mrs. David Mortimer of Winthrop—who bore a great sign with the name "Dave Mortimer" printed in big leters upon it. One of the earliest on board, she perched high where it would be comparatively easy for her to be seen, providing the Mayflower approached near the big ship. And her search was rewarded!

High in the rigging of the transport was a boy in olive drab. He looked like the four thousand others, to the rest, but the eyes of love are keen and she knew him for "Her Boy." He recognized the girl, too, and answered her signals with a regularity that proved that she was not mistaken.

"I see him; I do see him! That's Dave—see—he's waving," she cried—and finally subsided in a burst of tears into the arms of her mother-in-law, who stood ready to comfort her. The fact that she is Mrs. Mortimer is a surprise to many Winthrop people, who have not known of the marriage of Edith A. Adams to Dave Mortimer, only a few weeks before he sailed with the 101st Field Artillery to France.

But today—proud and happy, the long weary waiting ended, the "war bride" was willing that all the world should know, and share in her happiness.

UNABLE TO FIND HUSBAND.

Another war bride, but not so lucky, was Mrs. P. A. Melden of Peabody, whose soldier boy is a private in Battery E. But though she searched the transport from bow to stern, Mrs. Melden was unable to pick out "Her Boy" from the mass of olive drab, and left the Mayflower happy that she had indeed been a part of the welcome, but sorry that she had not been able to pick out the one face in all the world, for her.

Mrs. Florence Trembley was another Peabody woman who was on board to welcome her son, Charles Durkee, also a private in Battery E. Private Durkee is today only 18 years old. He enlisted when he was not quite 16. "He told me that if I did not give him permission he would go anyway," she said, "so I thought I had better sign his papers and let him do it. But he had had two birthdays over there now, and I think it's time he was coming home again."

GREETS TWO SONS.

Mrs. Victor Robitsky of Salem has given two sons to the service, and came in from Salem in the early morning to greet John and William, both of whom are in Battery E of the 101st Artillery. A third son, Frank, is in the navy. Mrs. Robitsky was one of the few mothers on the boat who wore a service flag with three stars.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Arnold of Hyde Park came to meet their boy, Corporal Walter F. Arnold of Battery F, 101st, and were on the Mayflower and also on Commonwealth Pier. Though they strained their eyes and watched with anxious hearts, they were not among the fortunate ones who were rewarded by a glimpse of their son.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Rogers of Beverly wore two stars on their service flag for their two sons, Walter O. Rogers of the 101st Field Artillery and Carl M. Rogers, now in the navy. Walter was the son who was on the transport today.

For the third and last time Mrs. M. B. Carr of Salem journeyed down the harbor to meet the last of the three sons whom she sent away "with a smile" almost two years ago. Two have safely returned from France, and the third, Joseph V., came home today. "I have so much to be thankful for," she said as she watched the transport. "It is something to have had three sons in the service and have the three come home without a scratch of any sort."

COL. HERBERT'S WIFE PROUD OF HIM

By ELIZABETH ELLAM.

The proudest woman in Boston today is Mrs. John F. J. Herbert, wife of Colonel Herbert of Worcester, who commanded the 102d Field Artillery, and who is wearing a wonderful "Y. D." pin, the gift that her husband presented her, as he greeted her, when he stepped from the transport at Commonwealth Pier.

The "Y" is in sapphires and the "D" is seed pearls. Colonel Herbert was Major Herbert, when [illegible] left Worcester nineteen months ago. Later came news of his promotion to the rank of lieutenant-colonel, and today, when he greeted the Worcester committee gathered on the pier he wore the silver eagle of the colonel on his collar.

After his enthusiastic greeting to Mrs. Herbert, Colonel Herbert swept up his little niece, Elizabeth Rose Boyle, in his arms, and if there was a prouder, happier little girl in the world than the brown-haired little miss, who perched high in the arms of her big "Uncle" Jack, she certainly was not on Commonwealth Pier, today.

It was worth the very early rising, the dark train ride, and the hustle and bustle incidental to getting to the Pier to the little girl to see the big transport, to see her uncle, and later to be presented to Major-General Clarence R. Edwards himself.

Colonel Herbert had a reunion with his commanding officer, Major-General Edwards, on the transport before it came into the dock, and later on the pier they fraternized again. And in the second meeting was a pretty story and a prettier compliment—that explains a little of why General Edwards is "Pa" Edwards to the boys of the Y. D.

To get to the story requires an explanation. A few weeks ago Mrs. Herbert met General Edwards in Worcester. In the enthusiasm of the meeting with her husband's commanding officer, and in the excitement of meeting the wife of one of his officers, a kiss was given and taken. Just who was responsible was not told until today.

With his arm across the shoulders of his wife, Colonel Herbert turned to General Edwards and said: "Now I've got you both together, it's up to you to explain all this."

And General Edwards, turning to Mrs. Herbert with a sweeping bow, said: "Look at Mrs. Herbert. Isn't that explanation enough?"

But Mrs. Herbert's enjoyment of the reunion with her husband was limited, because of the many demands on his time and the many Worcester people who were there to greet the big colonel who was only a few years ago Lieutenant Herbert of Battery B. He was Captain Herbert when he came back from the Mexican border—and all the people who were anxious to greet him then were at Commonwealth Pier today.

Late Cable Bulletins!

Paris, April 10.—The allies in Southern Russia have evacuated Perekop Peninsula, opening Crimea to the Bolsheviks. Fortifications are being erected at Sebastopol.

Berlin, April 10.—Looters at Magdeburg have seized 300 tons of American foods which had been assigned to Russian prisoners.

Amsterdam, April 10.—A violent battle between Hungarian Reds and Czecho-Slovak troops is raging near Ungvar, it was reported from Vienna today. A Soviet has been proclaimed at Salzburg.

London, April 10.—The Italian strike fixed for Thursday may assume serious proportions, affecting all branches of industry save the gas and electric plants, says a dispatch from Rome.

London, April 10.—Nine hundred Bolshevik soldiers were killed and two Red Regiments were defeated in a battle with anti-Bolshevik forces near Sarapk, said a news agency diepatch from Omsk today.

London, April 10.—Germany may secure a loan of $1,000,000,000 from neutrals if the peace delegates at Paris give their permission, says a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam.

U. S. GUNNERS BEST IN WORLD, SAYS HERBERT

Colonel of 102nd Field Artillery Praises Work of Men in the Fighting in France

"Our Massachusetts artillerymen were the best in the world when the war ended," said Colonel John F. J. Herbert of Worcester, commanding the 102nd Field Artillery.

"The myth about the inherent superiority of the French gunners would have been exploded within a few more months of fighting.

"The American qualities of resourcefulness, initiative and the capacity to learn from the other fellow were telling. As for the Germans, their artillery was outclassed toward the close of the war."

Colonel Herbert had words of the highest commendation for the Yankee Division as a unit. His command was behind the Y. D. Infantry in every action, besides supporting the Rainbow Division and others in various battles.

Colonel Herbert said he would leave the army as soon as he was allowed to resign, and thought this was the general attitude among officers and men. He thought, however, that many young junior officers would ultimately return to the service as a career.

IN ACTION NINE MONTHS.

"Our regiment was in the front line for nine months and seven days without relief," said Colonel Herbert. "The stiffest of our fighting was during the Aisne-Marne offensive of last year, when we took forty-one kilometres, more than that captured by any other unit in any of the allied armies.

"The spirit displayed by the men in that offensive was wonderful. The boys from Worcester, Haverhill, Lowell, Lawrence and New Bedford 'came through' better than even we had dared to hope. We fought behind all the infantry units, and believe me they liked to hear our guns rumbling into line behind them before a big action. My lads took pride in the efficiency with which they supported the foot soldiers, and the rivalry which exists between the two arms of the service in times of peace was entirely lacking."

Colonel Herbert was sorry that Major Frank Cavanaugh, football coach for Holy Cross and Dartmouth, did not return with the regiment.

Major Cavanaugh, who went across as a lieutenant, was just too late to catch his old unit at Brest, and will be sent home as a casual.

He was badly wounded during the fighting north of the Meuse, being struck by a shell as he was occupying a German dugout.

Colonel Herbert said that the casualties of his command were heaviest in that action, because of the necessity for moving ahead rapidly.

"When we took a position it was necessary to occupy German dugouts," he explained, "and as these faced the German lines instead of ours we were unavoidably exposed to their long-range fire. But we gave them as good as we got, and a little bit better."

Colonel Herbert went across as a major. He is a newspaper man, but will forsake that calling on his return to private life.

ASK FOR AUTOMOBILES TO GIVE Y. D. BOYS RIDES

Arrangements are being made by the Entertainment Committee of the Yankee Division to secure automobiles and take the boys on sight-seeing trips through Boston and vicinity. Cars will be donated by the Boston Automobile Dealers, who will also send circulars to other owners, with a pledge, asking them for the use of their cars each for a period of three hours on one day; women to drive their own cars, if they wish.

Starting next Monday the cars will be parked on Charles street, between Beacon street and Park square. No tickets will be required, the insignia of the Y. D. being sufficient.

TUMULTY DENIES STORY OF SPECIALIST FOR WILSON

Washington, April 10.—Reports that Dr. J. Calmers da Costa, a naval officer, was leaving for Paris on the George Washington today in connection with the President's illness were flatly denied at the White House today. It was stated that if Dr. da Costa, who is connected with Jefferson Medical College, was going abroad on the presidential transport, it was only in connection with his duties as naval officer.

"The President is all right, and Dr. Grayson is well able to take care of him," was the way Secretary Tumulty put it.

HELD FOR SANITY TEST IN KILLING OF OFFICER

London, April 10.—Lieutenant-Colonel Norman Cecil Rutherford, of the Medical Corps of the British army has been detained as insane in his trial for the killing of Major Miles Charles Seton of Melbourne.

Rutherford was said to have shot Seton, also an officer in the Medical Corps, under circumstances which led everyone to believe that the "unwritten law" would be raised in his defense.

GIRLS BEGIN PICKETING FACTORY IN SALEM

Salem, April 10.—Picketing of the Hy-Grade Lamp Company factory here was begun today by 125 girl employes who are striking because they claim eleven girls were unjustly discharged. Strikers say that only thirty girls went to work in the factory today. Organizer Kazany addressed the strikers at a meeting at the Central Labor Union.

OLD STATE HOUSE FRIENDS GREET SHERBURNE

Legislators Go Down the Harbor Before Daybreak to Meet "Fighting Jack"

Two-thirds of the Massachusetts Legislature went down the harber before daybreak today to welcome home General "Jack" Sherburne of Brookline and his fighting sons who returned on the Mongolia.

Friends and old-time pals of "Fighting Jack Sherburne," formerly the live wire from Brookline in the House of Representatives, were aboard the U. S. S. Rogday when she slipped from her berth at the North End pier and started down to where the Mongolia lay anchored in President Road, her great black smoke stacks and her wireless masts silhouetted against the rising sun.

A band aboard the ship kept the party in the best of spirits during the cold trip down to President Roads. "How Dry I Am," seemed to be the popular tune aboard the Rogday, and not until the naval boat had reached the side of the big transport was there a change.

Then amid a roar from the throats of the thousands of khaki-clad lads who lined the decks of the Mongolia the band struck up "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," with members of the sedate old Massachusetts Legislature roaring their loudest.

CALLS FOR THE GENERAL.

There was a hush when the last strains had died away. Then a roar from the representatives aboard the naval craft.

"We want Jack Sherburne! We want Jack Sherburne!"

But there was no "Jack" Sherburne and the lawmakers were obliged to adopt different tactics. As the boat swung close in to the side of the transport someone shouted:

"Who's from Boston aboard that craft?"

There was a chorus of yells. Then, as they died away there came a late answer.

"I am, Senator Joe Knox, and we're wondering who in that bunch aboard your craft voted for prohibition."

There was a roar that drowned out any response that might have been made. The whole ship took it up and it seemed that a thousand voices yelled across the twenty-five feet of water.

"HOW DRY I AM."

"Who voted for prohibition?"

And Representative "Tim" Driscoll from South Boston, seated on top of the after-deck, yelled back through a megaphone, "How dry I am."

As the Mongolia weighed anchor and swung around with her head up the harbor the Rogdap drew in closer.

"We want Charlie Eldridge!" came a cry. "Is dear old Fitz aboard that craft?"

And then, "Where's our new Governor?"

Where was the Governor? Where was Governor Calvin Coolidge? Nobody knew. At the start of the trip it was understood he was aboard. Finally somebody yelled back the information that the Governor was aboard another ship.

"Well, we just wants to see him," yelled a lad from the stern. And, "Is he as good as Sam McCall?"

As the transport got under way a lad standing in the stern shouted:

"Say, you Legislature, I hear you're going to give us $100 bonus. Is that right? Well, be sure we get it before July 1st."

Once again those aboard the Rogday set up a cry for General Sherburne.

"We want 'Jack' Sherburne."

And rolling across the water as the Mongolia poked her nose toward Commonwealth Pier came the answers in a deep base voice.

"He ain't here just now. But do you know what we hopes? We hopes Fighting Jack Sherburne resigns from the army and gets back in the Legislature. And then, O boy, he'll even have the prohibition bill repealed."

$15,000,000,000 IN NEW GERMAN BUDGET

Weimar, April 10.—Treasury bills totaling $15,000,000,000 will make up the next German budget soon to be introduced in the National Assembly, it was announced today by Minister of Finance Schiffer. Three billions will be raised by direct and indirect taxation.

Boston Theatres to Entertain Boys of 26th

In the plans for the entertainment of the 26th Division, the theatres of Boston will take their customary prominent place in affairs of public good and interest.

To this effect the managers of the theatres and the attractions housed in them, have offered to the Mayor's entertainment committee free shows to which will be admitted men from the 26th.

Though it is a condition that if the list from the Y. D. should become exhausted other New England men who have served overseas will be eligible for admission.

The method employed for reaching the men will be to distribute tickets at Camp Devens and through the Boston Entertainment Committee at its headquarters, which probably will be situated on the Common.

These tickets given by the committee are to be exchanged at the box offices of the theatres for reserved seats.

The honor of the first performance comes to "The Rainbow Girl" at the Tremont Theatre.

Klaw & Erlanger, who are managers of the attraction, and the management of the Tremont Theatre give everything free to the men and the nature of the show should provide the most perfect of diversion for the men, most of whom have not seen a real theatrical show for eighteen months.

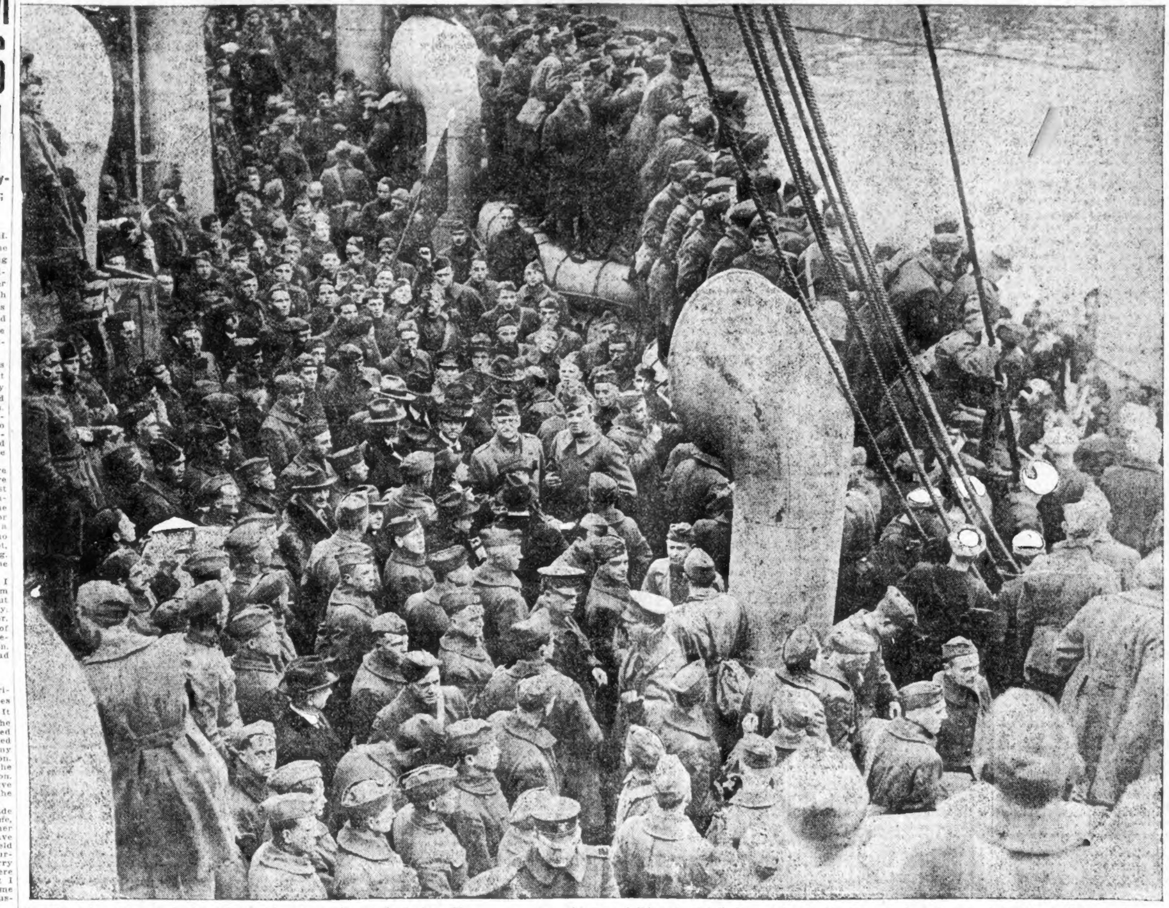
"OUR BRIGADE DID THE MOST FIGHTING," SAYS GEN. SHERBURNE

HERE THEY ARE! SHERBURNE'S PETS, ON THE MONGOLIA, WITH EDWARDS IN THEIR MIDST



Snapshot taken today on the troopship as she was coming up the harbor. The camera man caught General Edwards "fair." You can't miss him if you look to the left of the big ventilator in the foreground. He's looking right at you.

IN STORM OF SHELLS AT VERDUN

Wonderful Spirit of Artillerymen Praised by Commander; Won Glory Throughout

"Our brigade," said General John H. Sherburne, on his return today on the Magnolia, "has been in more fighting than any other brigade in the American Expeditionary Force. Wherever it fought it acquitted itself with glory. They handled the French 75's and 155 mm's in a manner that amazed even the French themselves. The French I consider the greatest artillerists in the world today.

"The outstanding feature of this brigade was the wonderful spirit manifested by its members. They worked with a spirit and deported themselves as only real soldiers can. The record of courts-martial and discipline administered pays tribute to this fact. Our health record throughout was wonderful, and all one need do is look at the men here on the ship to attest to that fact.

"Our biggest losses, in killed, were at Chateau Thierry and even there they were not numerous. Our hardest fighting was at Verdun, which I considered the meanest place on all the front. We were holding the sector as a feint or threat, with never a thought of a drive. There was no push there; we were merely a pivot, but the work was hard and trying. The gas baths were numerous and the shelling continual.

"The first intimation I had that I had been promoted came to me from home. I was advanced in June, but didn't hear of it, even unofficially, until July 4. Then some time later, about three days before the end of the Chateau Thierry drive, I was relieved of my command by promotion. Though a brigadier-general I had been acting as colonel.

GIVEN ANOTHER COMMAND.

"I next took charge of the 92d Brigade, consisting entirely of negroes with a majority of white officers. It was an experiment, the first time the United States army had ever tried negro artillerymen. They performed very creditably, but all the while my heart was with the Yankee Division. I wanted to be with them. I had the negroes in action at Pont-au-Mosson, and in the brigade there were five regiments of artillery, rather than the customary three.

"My orders to return to the brigade were a source of vast pleasure to me, but, of course, I would much rather have had charge of it, or even have led my own regiment, the 101st Field Artillery of the Yankee Division, during the days from Chateau Thierry to the Meuse. The orders home were most welcome, but the best sight I have ever enjoyed is that before me now—Boston harbor with the Custom House tower in the offing."

That one might better hear of the doings of the brigade, General Sherburne suggested that "Dono" Minot, the old Harvard football player, now Major Minot, be interviewed. "Dono" comes home as brigade adjutant. He too was fed up with the wonderful display of spirit on the part of the men. He marvelled at their willingness to do anything and go anywhere at any time when ordered.

CAVANAUGH HARD HIT.

Major Minot stated that the casualties of the brigade were between 12 and 15 per cent. of the total strength. With regret he mentioned the fact that Major Frank Cavanaugh of the 102d Regiment had been injured when a shell splinter tore across the right side of his face. Three operations had been necessary for Major Cavanaugh, he said. The former Dartmouth coach, he now believed, is at St. Aignan awaiting transportation home.

Major Minot stated that the heaviest losses through men killed were at Chateau Thierry, while following the St. Mihiel drive the casualties, which includes killed, wounded, gassed or otherwise incapacitated, were the heaviest. Aboard the ship coming home there were but six stretcher cases, he reported.

Major Minot gloried in relating that Captain Lawrence B. Page of N Battery, a Brookline boy, had won the Croix de Guerre; Captain William F. Howe, Jr., of Brookline, the Croix de Guerre; Captain Thomas Holt of Salem, of D Battery, the Croix de Guerre; Major Norman D. McLeod of the 1st Battalion of the 102d Regiment, the Distinguished Service Cross. So on he went naming officers, and enlisted men as well, who were honored for outstanding feats of daring during the war.

"It was the best artillery brigade," said Major Minot. "In the whole damn army. Our esprit de corps was great. The men fought valiantly and are fully entitled to any honors the folks at home may care to bestow upon them. No matter what they were called on to do they did it and did it willingly and thoroughly."

WILSON'S SHIP TO LEAVE FOR EUROPE TOMORROW

New York, April 10.—The steamship George Washington, which will carry President Wilson back from France will not sail until tomorrow afternoon, port of embarkation officials announced today. It was reported last night that the vessel would leave today.

POLICE BOAT IS FIRST TO REACH MONGOLIA

Leaving Constitution Wharf just before dawn, the Police Boat Guardian, commanded by Captain Ross Perry of Station 8, was the first boat to reach the Mongolia, lying at President Roads.

As the Guardian drew near the Mongolia, dawn was breaking through the clouds and silhouetted against the sky were the boys standing on the rigging trying to pierce the gloom for the first sign of the welcome boats.

Catching sight of the Guardian as she slowly circled the ship, a yell broke aboard the ship "Let's Go," and cheer after cheer rent the enshrouding darkness, as a crowd of dim figures leaned over the rail shouting, "You all look good to us, and we're glad to get home."

Aboard the Guardian was "Jack" Cadigan, the popular song writer, who sang popular songs, the boys aboard the Mongolia joining in the chorus.

Shortly after the Guardian, in rapid succession came the City of Gloucester, Samoset, Machigonne, 2d, Ossipee, Mayflower and the East Boston Ferry boats John H. Sullivan and Governor Russell, carrying the governors of the New England States, the Mayor's reception committee, and mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts of the boys.

MILITARY TRAINING N SCHOOLS IS APPROVED

Harrisburg, Pa., April 10.—Major B. A. Talbert and Major A. A. Meras, members of the committee on education of the War Department, have approved as a general proposition the bill providing for military training and physical instruction in all schools, colleges and universities receiving State aid.

PROFESSORS IN NEW UNION WITH LABOR

Massachusetts college professors and school teachers have formed a union, affiliated with the A. F. of L. and in all ways a regular official labor body, to combat the high cost of living, low salaries for teachers and for the improvement of educational standards.

The charter for the new union has been issued with Dr. George Nasmyth, Ph. D., formerly of Cornell University, as president, and Professor Alfred D. Sheffield, A. M., of Wellesley, as secretary. The exact title of the union is yet to be selected, but it will probably be either the "Greater Boston Federation of Teachers," or the "Massachusetts Federation of Teachers."

Among the local educators who are members of the new union are Professor Henry W. L. Dana, Ph. D., of Harvard; Harold J. Laski, Harvard; Horace Taylor, A. B., Browne and Nichols School; Daniel Foley, A. M., English High School; Charles C. Ramsay, A. M., former superintendent of schools, White Plains, N. Y.; Alfred Dwight Sheffield, A. M., Wellesley; James MacKaye, S. B.; Horace M. Kallen, Ph. D., New School of Research; William Leavitt Stoddard, A. M.; Arthur Fisher, A. B., and others. Francis Bowes Sayre, A. B., LL. B., son-in-law of President Wilson, is said to be interested and a potential member.

"When loan sharks begin to circularize school teachers with offers of money [illegible] tide them over vacation time, as they have recently done in this city, it is time that something was done," said Dr. Nasmyth today.

"Salaries for teachers are now below [illegible] average of pay to many unskilled trades. One of the things the union will do is to make a demand for higher salaries, and I believe that there will be little opposition. Organization is all the teachers needed to get this increase years ago. Now they have the organization."

A meeting of the new union will be held at the Twentieth Century Club on Saturday night at which all teachers interested in the union are asked to appear.

4 Back With Crosses for Daring Death to Save Others

"Soldier of splendid valor and great heroism. The camouflage of an artillery emplacement having caught fire, he rushed under the burning fabric, removed powder charges placed close by, and throwing coverings over them, prevented an explosion from taking place."

Three Greater Boston boys and one from New Jersey possess documents bearing these words in French. They are the citation, signed by General Passaga, which brought the Croix de Guerre for heroic action in Lorraine. The boys who returned today on the Mongolia are:

Corporal Alban Richards, No. 354 Boston street, Lynn; Private Clarence Sewell, No. 30 Forest Hill avenue, Lynn; Private William H. Mullens, No. 14 Hampshire street, Danvers; and Private Otto Beyer, New Brunswick, N. J. All are members of Battery E, 101st Field Artillery. Captain Thomas Sanders of the company, from Salem, also wears the Croix de Guerre; and it was awarded to Sergeant Hadley McPhetres of Lynn, who was killed overseas.

The four first mentioned received their reward for the same action—a gallant dash which each man knew was more likely than not to end in Eternity. Instead, four cheerful doughboys stood on the forward deck and underwent a bombardment of doughnuts and cigarettes.

Their citations were worn and shabby from being carried in breast pockets, and each boy professed not to have the least idea what his little document was all about.

"You can't read it, it's in French," they said discouragingly. But when it was translated, a round of sheepish smiles showed that they recognized the facts. A good deed had found them out!

PRESIDENT "STILL HAMMERING AHEAD"

Washington, April 10.—"The President made good progress today, still hammering ahead."

This cablegram was received today at the White House executive offices from Admiral Cary T. Grayson, the President's aid and personal physician.

It was under date of April 10 and referred, it is explained, not only to the President's physical condition, but to the peace conference negotiations. A second message told of the great improvement in the President's condition and stated that he was able to take a motor ride yesterday.

RUNAWAY GIRL AND BOY FLED FROM BOSTON

"Gypsy Love Affair" Rudely Interrupted by Police in Portland, Me.

Portland, Me., April 10.—"A gypsy love affair" with unusual features was rudely interrupted by the arrest here of fourteen-year-old Margaret M. Mullen of Somerville, Mass., clad in sailor's garb, and Joseph Edward Kearney, seventeen, of South Boston, with whom she was eloping.

The youthful adventurers rode here on the blind end of a freight train, shivering, penniless and almost starved.

They planned to tour the country, traveling royally when they had funds, stopping to earn more, and "always staying together." The girl is extraordinarily pretty, and looks older than her years.

Their first stop was to have been at Harmon, near Bangor, where Kearney once worked. No charge has as yet been preferred against the youthful elopers, but it is understood that the girl is charged in Somerville with being a stubborn child.

The Mullen girl lives on Morton street, Somerville, and her companion on the "gypsy tour" so blithely undertaken, lives at No. 923 Broadway, South Boston. He was also in the navy blue and showed a discharge from the navy and from the School of Navigation.

The boy and girl were noticed as the freight came into the yard, and the boy tried to hustle his companion onto a trolley car and escape. When they were caught she broke down and cried in a little-girl fashion which made her rash trip into the fields of romance seem rather pitiable.

"I don't think it would be like this," she told the police. "We were going to see the country. I was tired of the city and the regular everyday things that made up my life.

"I thought it would be fine to get out into the country. I liked Joe, and we came. But I thought we had more money, and that freight train came on through without stopping. I thought I would fall off sometimes, I was so numb with the cold."

The uniform she wore was borrowed from young Kearney. It was her effort to force her mop of long hair under the small sailor's cap that first attracted the attention of the police.

The boy and girl will probably be sent back to Boston and surrendered to their parents.

GRADUATION EXERCISES IN NIGHT SCHOOLS TONIGHT

Graduation exercises will take place tonight in the Boston evening schools when 600 diplomas and 5,000 certificates of proficiency will be awarded to the pupils. The schools have been in session since October 21. Exercises will be held in the following schools: Charlestown Evening High, Central Evening High, Brighton Evening Elementary and Commercial High Schols, South Boston Evening Commercial, Dorchester Evening Commercial, Roxbury Evening Commercial High, Bigelow Evening, Comins Evening, Dearborn Evening, Eliot Evening, Franklin Evening, Phillips Brooks Evening, Theodore Lyman Evening, Washington Evening, and Wendell Phillips School.

HALE, 26TH LEADER, TO GO TO CAMP DIX

Camp Dix, N. J., April 10.—Major-General Hugh L. Scott, commanding officer at Camp Dix since January 2, will be relieved next month by Brigadier-General Harry C. Hale, commander of the Twenty-sixth (Yankee) Division, it became known here today.

General Hale is expected here about April 26. He is now at Camp Devens, where he will remain for the parade of his division in Boston.

AUTO FIRM SUED FOR $10,000 IN DEATH CASE

The Fiat Motor Sales Company of New England has been sued for $10,000 by George R. Jones of Melrose, as administrator of the estate of George Carney of Cambridge. It is alleged that the deceased was run over and killed by an automobile owned by the company.

BAYER

DON'T BUY ASPIRIN IN A "PILL" BOX

Ask for "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in a Bayer package—marked with "Bayer Cross."

You must say "Bayer." Never ask for merely Aspirin tablets. The name "Bayer" means you are getting the genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," proven safe by millions of people.

Don't buy Aspirin tablets in a pill box. Insist on getting the Bayer package with the safety "Bayer Cross" on both package and on tablets. No other way!

Beware of counterfeits! Only recently a Brooklyn manufacturer was sent to the penitentiary for flooding the country with talcum pwoder tablets, which he claimed to be Aspirin.

In the Bayer package are proper directions and the dose for Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Colds, Grippe, Influenzal-Colds, Neuritis and pain generally.

"Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," American made and owned, are sold in vest pocket boxes of 12 tablets, which cost only a few cents, also in bottles of 24 and bottles of 100—also capsules. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Advertisement.

RABBI STEPHEN S. WIS —Says in Tomorrow's— Boston American "ZIONISM HAS CEASED TO BE"

BERT FORD'S CAMP DEVENS PAGE

LOGAN TO MAKE LATIN SCHOOL BOYS HAPPY

By BERT FORD.

Camp Devens, April 10.—This story will interest boys and girls. It is the story of a Latin School boy who won school drills and commanded a school regiment and later a regiment of doughboys in the world's greatest war on the Western front and made good.

The New England public know him now as Colonel Edward L. Logan, commander of the 101st Infantry, but in Latin School days he was known as "Eddie" and is still, among his intimates.

When you stop to think of it the story from real life right in our midst embodies all the romance and dramatic power of a narrative of fiction, because "Edie" Logan, just back at the head of as gallant a regiment as fought on the Western front, will turn school boy again, just for a day, and live through old scenes in an atmosphere which he loves in common with all Latin School alumni.

INVITED TO LATIN SCHOOL DRILL.

He was in his office at regimental headquarters today, a young mountain of mail in front of him, when he came to this letter:

"Colonel Edward L. Logan, 101st Infantry, Camp Devens.

"My Dear Colonel Logan:

"The annual prize drill of your old school will take place on Friday, April 11, at 1 p. m. in the East Armory. Is there any chance at all that in the midst of your very busy hours, your preoccupation with a thousand duties and your weariness after months of hardship in the field, you could find time and strength to come to us even for a little while that day?

"I do not attempt to describe to you how cordial would be your welcome, and I think you must know what a real pleasure it would be, not only to the boys and masters, but also to the alumni, to see an older brother who has borne arms so valiantly for his country once more back home from the war.

"With warmest personal regards, I am, sincerely,

"HENRY PENNYPACKER."

WILL ACCEPT INVITATION.

"Am I going to accept the invitation?" said Colonel Logan. "You bet I am. It is the first in this batch that I shall accept. Wouldn't miss it for anything. Be great to be back with Latin School boys at a prize drill. I was a colonel of the school regiment and won first prize in drill and all my brothers did, Francis, Leo, Theodore and Malcolm. They were officers in the school regiment too, majors, lieutenant colonels and colonels.

"I shall consider it a privilage and an honor to go. In addition to recalling school days, it will have the double significance of being my first visit to our old armory since our return from France. I shall speak to the boys if Headmaster Pennypacker desires. At any rate, I shall be there with both feet."

"ENEMY" STILL SWINGING.

As I took a swing around the bend of the road from the infantry section toward cantonment headquarters today I noticed a half-dozen dummies swinging in the breeze. They were made of switches laced together and suspended to a long scaffold by strands of wir.

"They were the 'enemy' of draft days—the type of Hun which recruits jabbed and prodded in practice. I saw men who began their bayonet 'duels' with these 'antagonists' go into the front line on the Western front and engage real foe and slay them or fall themselves, and the memories made the old switch dummies at Devens look awfully queer to me.

"The cantonment looked natural and much improved since I saw it fifteen months before. Camp correspondents told me of the terrible toll of 'flu' and that barracks were empty and things quietd down for a spell, only to take on new life when the Yankee Division units began to arrive. Now the camp is humming.

HOSTESS HOUSE POPULAR.

"I found the Hostess House more popular than ever and the women in charge of it doing their utmost to make things pleasant and comfortable for all visitors. The meals they serve there are splendid and portions are generous. There were a half dozen French girls there today, the wives of American soldiers. The Knights of Columbus, Y. M. C. A. and the Jewish Welfare Board are all very much on the job.

Troops of pretty girls visit the camp daily. Many of them are wearing the "Y-D" insignia on their sleeves. Sunday will be a record day. The camp will be thrown open wide. Among the other attractions there will be a concert by the massed bands of the Yankee Division, led by Bandmaster L'Africain of the 101st Infantry, who will put on a program which will include selections by his corps of buglers.

ONLY 41 ON A. W. L. LIST.

A checking up showed that only 41 members of the 101st Infantry went home without leave. The number in other units is said to have been larger. In one regiment all members of the band took French leave. Courts-martial are threatened.

Visitors never tire of commenting on the sturdiness of the troops and of their soldierly bearing.

"Every man of them marches and acts like a professional soldier," said a politician. "And come to think of it that's what they are after the strenuous service they put in on the other side. It made new men of them. Can hardly wait to see the review and the parade. Ought to be some spectacle."

FINAL UNITS OF 26TH SAIL.

Announcement that the final units of the 26th Division sailed from Brest on April 6, aboard the U. S. S. Particlan, was received with pleasure in camp today, because with the arrival in Boston of that transport the command of General Hale will be complete. The artillery units docked today.

The Y D men revel in the Spring sunshine of their native land. They did not like the "beaucoup pluie" in France. The fine weather started all sorts of sports yesterday. The parade ground looked like a school yard at recess. The doughboys played leap frog and baseball, held jumping contests and other events. They abandon themselves to these pastimes with the zest of kittens.

LAWRENCE GREETS ITS HEROES ON APRIL 16

Lawrence, April 10.—Lawrence's "Welcome Home Day" will be Wednesday, April 16, when the city will receive its heroes. A parade will feature the day. All discharged men will act as escort to the home-coming 26th boys, members of the G. A. R., Spanish War veterans and State Guard.

A general holiday will be observed.

Camp Sidelights

Yesterday was the biggest visiting day that the camp has had so far, with the exception of Sunday. Hundreds of mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts from all over New England are flocking to the camp, many of them planning to remain either near the camp or in Boston until after the parade and the demobilization.

Baseball is the favorite diversion in camp today, and balls, bats and uniforms, together with 100 footballs, were given out.

A boxing carnival, to be held at Fenway Park on the night preceding and following the big parade, is exciting the interest of the men at Devens. There will be fifteen bouts each night.

Acting Chief of Staff John B. Murphy has issued an order that each regiment and every unit organize a ball team at once. The athletic officer of each regiment and unit must submit a list of the six best players, officers and enlisted men included, with rank and position that they play, to Lieutenant Shea before Thursday.

The date of the ball game between the Red Sox and the 26th Division team has been officially announced as April 21. The game will be played at Fitchburg.

Orders from the naturalization officers, inviting officers of all of the units of the 26th to furnish names of all aliens, have been issued. These aliens will be permitted to receive honorary citizenship, by appearing at the military court any Monday, without the usual wait of two or three years, in civil life.

Major-General Harry C. Hale, commanding the 26th Division, who has been confined to his bed with bronchitis since his arrival at Camp Devens, is reported greatly improved. The condition of Colonel Richard K. Hale, chief of staff, who was reported ill with pneumonia on Sunday, was reported as improving.

MRS. CHARLES W. FRYE of Scituate, hostess for members of "Women of Old Company B, 101st Engineers," at gathering in Hotel Vendome.

The first formal reception by mothers of the Yankee Division men since the arrival of the men of the 26th, was held today at the Hotel Vendome, when Mrs. Charles W. Frye of Scituate was hostess for the members of the organization known as "The Women of Old Company B, 101st Engineers."

This organization is composed of the women members of the families of the men who were formerly in the First Corps Cadets, one of the oldest military bodies in the State.

Mrs. Frye was assisted in receiving by Mrs. John Osborne of Cambridge, whose husband was in command of Company B when it went across nineteen months ago. Sergeant Howard O. Frye, who arrived from France on the Mt. Vernon and who was in Boston on a brief leave, was present.

Many of the mothers were accompanied by their soldier sons. Mrs. Newell Keith of Brighton, Mrs. D. Pierce of Wollaston, Mrs. Edith Preston and Mrs. Francis McLaughlin were among those whose sons, newly returned from overseas on the latest transports, were in the gathering. Mrs. George W. Bunnell, whose husband is now in command of the 101st Engineers, was a guest.

COOTIE RECORD LOW IN DEVENS Y. D. UNITS

Camp Devens, April 10.—Only one man in every 500 of the 26th Division needed to go through the sanitary process according to the sanitary officers at this camp.

Already 11,460 men and 400 officers have gone through the regulation sanitary ordeal with a result that tends to demonstrate that the American soldier is the cleanest in the world.

M'sieu le Cootie, as records show, just barely managed to survive the sanitary process which the men of the Twenty-Sixth went through in Brest, and reached here only to find his future fumigated into oblivion. There is not a man in any unit who does not believe that the day of the cooties has passed so far as the American army is concerned.

Medical officers at camp point with pride to the admirable record of "Yankee Division" men. Of about 28,000 men in the division only 100 had to be left in France because of social diseases.

During the entire time of the division's stay in France never more than thirty-seven men were victims of these diseases in any one week.

HOW TO ESCAPE BEING LOST AT DEVENS

Information Bureau Will Help You Locate Boys in 26th Division

By THOMAS F. PHELAN.

Camp Devens, April 10.—Attention, friends of the Yankee Division. This cantonment is a large place. Perhaps you have never been here. Maybe you would like to know what the place looks like.

Listen: The camp is two miles in length. Its breadth is one and one-half miles. It comprises 10,000 acres.

There are 1,608 buildings, most of which are used as barracks.

There are twenty-three miles of roadway.

The electric wiring measures 450 miles.

Heating pipes measure sixty-five miles.

Shower baths total 2,200.

Lumber used in buildings approximate 35,000 square feet.

Capacity for officers and men, 43,000.

These are interesting facts. Bear them in mind when you come here.

You want to find your loved one's quarters. How to find them bothers you, perhaps. Remember, the Boston committee on reception to returning soldiers is anxious to help you.

An information bureau has been opened here by the committee. It is located in the old school formerly occupied by the officers of the 73d Infantry. It is just off the main road, facing the old camp laundry building and across the drill field from the main building of the Knights of Columbus.

PATRIOTIC WOMEN ASSIST.

Here you will find patriotic women ready to assist you. All you've got to do is call and make known who you are and the soldier you are seeking. You will be directed to the barracks where he is located. By doing that you will escape being lost. The committee want you to take advantage of this service. Don't be backward.

The committee consists of Francis O'Connell, chairman; Lieutenant William Drohan, secretary; Charles D. Strecker, treasurer; Arthur D. Goode, William Bentley, J. A. Fenno, William Kelsey, Patrick O'Connor, Councillors James A. Watson and Daniel J. McDonald, Miss Mae Barr, Mrs. John H. Sherburne, wife of Brigadier-General Sherburne of the Yankee Division; Mrs. Spalding, Mrs. F. P. Williams, Mrs. C. C. Smith, Mrs. McNamara, Mrs. Charles D. Strecker and Miss Logan.

Every building in the business section of Ayer is draped with red, white and blue bunting in honor of the returning heroes.

Special arrangements are being made by the Military Police and Provost Guard for handling the big crowd expected here Sunday. It is figured that at least 20,000 persons will visit the camp that day. The State police and town authorities will co-operate.

For the entertainment of this concourse of people the regimental officers have provided for a concert by the massed bands on the drill field. The camp will be open to all who care to hear the concert, which will start at 3 p. m.

PROBE ATTACK ON SOLDIER.

Some time ago a soldier from this cantonment visited Milford and received a severe beating. He reported the matter to the camp authorities. Intelligence officers have been investigating the affair. Arrests will be made shortly, it is stated.

Captain Ashmore, athletic officer, has made arrangements for an athletic tournament at the Fenway Ball Park, from April 24 to 28, and intends to have some of the men quartered here take part.

Overseas men who want to get rid of their smileage should confer with Captain Clarance B. MacNeil at cantonment headquarters.

A telegram received here today from the War Department calls on the commander to send out in the immediate vicinity of the camp recruiting parties for the purpose of securing recruits for assignment to regular army organizations. The order states that men may be recruited also by such parties for other organizations at the place from which the parties are sent out.

Private Seigh D. Jones of the School for Bakers and Cooks has been apprehended by Deputy Sheriff Harry Muir at Tomaston, Ct., on a desertion charge. He will be brought here by a non-commissioned officer.

Lieutenant-Colonel John J. Dowling of the Boston City Hospital Unit has been discharged from the service. Other officers discharged are Majors Somers Frazer and Daniel B. Reardon, Captains Hiram H. Amiral, Frank H. Cushman, John H. Lambert, Arthur B. Connor, Archibald McK. Fraser and Milton J. Longworth, First Lieutenants Richard L. Hearne, George S. Burgess, Robert S. Crawford, Daniel N. Matheson, Roland J. Bennett, Ivan R. Burket, Hannibal L. Hamlin and Harold L. Peacock, Second Lieutenant William J. Holm.

Directories have been established in camp showing the forwarding addresses of every soldier discharged or separated from the service or transferred.

MORNING HIKES FOR MEN.

Morning hikes after mess to points some distance from the camp were started by company commanders today. There is talk of having the men of the 102nd Regiment march in a body to Still River, some distance away, and back again to keep the men in trim for the parade in Boston.

Investigation started today of soldiers who are reported to have visited nearby towns and exhibited army revolvers alleged to have been found on the French battlefields. It is stated that one soldier had a round of cartridges in the chamber of the revolver he carried and gave several persons a fright.

Captain Wayne Cave of the Supply Department and Lieutenant Cheever rendered great service to Captain Phipps in providing cups for the men in the Yankee Division. Cave is a former newspaper man. He provided kitchen equipment for 100 units.

Army Officers Have Queer Questions to Answer

Lieutenant-Colonel Hamilton R. Horsey, who has charge, with Captain Oliver Wolcott, of the information bureau for the 26th Division, has a number of queer questions put to him daily.

Here are a few:

"Do you think anyone of the 27th Division will be on from New York to attend the parade of the 26th Division?"

"Do you know how many men of the divison of General Edwards got into German prisons?"

"What is the real mascot of the 26th Division?"

"Do you think the men of the 26th Division really enjoy killing the Germans?"

"Are these cooties, which the boys talk so much about, like any insect we have in America?"

"How many boys do you think will parade and will they carry the rifles they had in France?"

FIRST Y. D. BOYS QUIT SERVICE TOMORROW

Expected That More Than 3,000 of Replacement Troops Will Be Let Out

Camp Devens, April 10.—Discharge of replacement troops from outside New England who fought with the 26th Division will begin here tomorrow when the first batch of men will be sent to Camp Dix, N. J., where they will be mustered out.

In all probability 3,000 more men will leave Sunday and Monday for sixteen various camps including Dix, Funston, Oglethorpe, Upton and others.

But for the difficulty of obtaining railroad cars the forwarding of men from here to camps near their homes would be expedited.

Under the present system application for railroad accommodations must go through Washington, and this causes considerable delay.

There is a feeling among the men that if the local military authorities could cut the red tape which extends from here to Washington their discharge from the army and return to their homes would be hastened.

Army officials are confident that with the mustering out of the new troops the railroad facilities will be adequate to bring them to their destinations without delay.

Kills Gray Eagle

Sedalia, April 10.—The first gray eagle killed in this section of Missouri was brought down by L. E. Baugh, a farmer. It measured eighty-eight inches from tip to tip of its wings.

NORTH ADAMS SEEKS Y. D. BOYS FOR PARADE

North Adams, April 10.—Mayor Ezra D. Whitaker is trying to have Captain John Holtz and all the members of Company M, 104th Infantry, which unit includes sixty-two northern Berkshire boys, come to North Adams on April 19 to take part in a big parade and reception. Should the efforts of Mayor Whitaker meet with success a banquet will be given the company.

GEN. COLE AND WIFE TO BE GUESTS OF MILFORD K. OF C.

Milford, April 10.—Brigadier-General and Mrs. Charles H. Cole will be present at the silver jubilee banquet of Valencia Council, Knights of Columbus, on April 22, according to word received by Grand Knight John E. Swift. The Milford council has open house in its rooms for all Milford soldiers now home on furlough three days.

How a Father Has Learned to Save Shoe Bills.

"My son is very hard on shoes, so keeping him properly shod has been quite an expense to me," writes Mr. J. Allison Allen, of Amity, Arkansas.

"But since I started to buy Neolin-soled shoes for him I have found that it costs only about a third as much to keep him in shoes."

This is because Neolin Soles are so tough and durable that they wear a very long time. Shoe bills are kept down because you don't need so many pairs.

You can get Neolin-soled shoes at almost any good shoe store. They come in all styles and for all members of the family. Neolin Soles are also available everywhere for re-soling. They are produced by a scientific process to be what soles ought to be: comfortable, waterproof and long-wearing. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels, guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

SAYS HE FOUND WIFE DRUNK AT HOME

Contractor Buckley of Quincy Sues for Divorce, While She Hints at His "Affinity"

"My wife was not affectionate toward me except when she had been drinking. Then she would put her arms around me and become very demonstrative."

William Buckley, a wealthy Quincy contractor, thus stated his case in Superior Court in Dedham today against his wife, Kate, whom he is suing for divorce on the ground of intoxication.

Mrs. Buckley, a past president of the Quincy Woman's Relief Corps, is fighting a cross-suit for divorce on the ground of cruel and abusive treatment.

Buckley testified today that while he never saw his wife drinking, he surprised her several times when she was intoxicated. On one occasion, he said, she was lying on the floor of their bedroom, and it appeared as if somebody had struck her. He was compelled to summon a physician.

DENIES STRIKING WIFE.

"She could have been the happiest woman in the world if she had shown the proper spirit," said the witness. "I never struck her in my life, and never abused her. I never made common property of her failing. I was as charitable as I knew how to be. If she became addicted to alcohol and drugs she did not learn of them through me."

The husband cried at one part of the testimony, as he described the unhappy family life which was the result of his wife's alleged failings. He maintained that he provided her with food, and that she ridiculed him to the neighbors, saying she could pull the wool over his eyes and sell eggs and other produce, keeping the money.

A store of whiskey which the witness admitted he always kept in his home was the subject of close cross-examination, but Buckley said he kept it for his horses, when they were ill, and never drank it himself or offered it to his wife.

HINTS AT "AFFINITY."

Mrs. Buckley in her testimony said: "I was his second wife, marrying him in 1915, and his children ill-treated me from the first.

" love this man better than my own life, but I left his house. I returned to the Buckley home on June 14, 1916, and let him use $800 of my money to remodel the house. My husband told some one I acted strangely in church. This person was called his affinity. He would go to church and return to swear and curse about the house.

"April 13, 1918, I was ill in bed, and he came in and dragged me out of bed into another room. He struck me in the face and made my nose bleed. I called 'murder' and the neighbors and a doctor ran in."

The "affinity" referred to by Mrs. Buckley has not been alluded to in any more definite terms since the beginning of the trial, and her identity is a matter of much interested speculation in Quincy.

The wife denies that she ever was intoxicated or took a drink.

PEABODY MAN SHOT AND JAILED AS A BURGLAR

Peabody, April 10.—Shot in the hand by a policeman, Zazar Semes was arrested early today charged with breaking and entering the grocery store of Vileslaw Sobolinski, at No. 2 North Central street, after he had dived through a heavy plate glass window in an attempt to escape. Officers Noonan, Quinlan and Doyle heard a noise in the store, and demanded that the intruder come out. He dived through the window and fled. Doyle fired. The man jumped a six-foot trench, but fell exhausted, after running a few yards. He was attended by Dr. Varney. His case was continued until Friday morning.

Catarrh Of the Stomach Is Dangerous

"Thousands Have It and Don't Know It," Says Physician. Frequently Mistaken for Indigestion—How to Recognize and Treat.

"Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from furred, coated tongue, bad breath, sour burning stomach, frequent vomiting, rumbling in stomach, bitter eructations, gas, wind and stomach acidity and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble is due to gastric catarrh of the stomach," writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because the mucous membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluids cannot mix with the food and digest them. This condition soon breeds deadly disease in the fermented, unassimilated food. The blood is polluted and carries the infection throughout the body. Gastric ulcers are apt to form and frequently an ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

In catarrh of the stomach a good and safe treatment is to take before meals a teaspoonful of pure Bisurated Magnesia in half a glass of hot water as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water washes the mucous from the stomach walls and draws the blood to the stomach while the bisurated magnesia is an excellent solvent for mucus and increases the efficiency of the hot water treatment. Moreover the Bisurated Magnesia will serve as a powerful but harmless antacid which will neutralize any excess hydrochloric acid that may be in your stomach and sweeten its food contents. Easy, natural digestion without distress of any kind should soon follow. Bisurated Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless, pleasant and easy to take and can be obtained from any local druggist. Don't confuse Bisurated Magnesia with other forms of magnesia, milks, citrates, etc., but get it in the pure bisurated form (powder or tablets), especially prepared for this purpose.—Advertisement.

NEED COTS FOR FAMILIES OF SOLDIERS

Hospitality Oicials Appeal for Help in Care for Parade Visitors

An appeal for large numbers of cot beds to be placed in the homes of families who have rooms, but lack sufficient sleeping accommodations for the entertainment of relatives of Y. D. boys on the night of the big parade, was voiced today by Captain Beverly Rantoul, chairman of the Family Hospitality Committee, in charge of this detail of parade plans.

Individuals or organizations having a quantity of cot beds which could be loaned for this purpose are urged to communicate with Captain Rantoul at the Little Building. It was intimated that, if impelled to do so, the committee would atempt to secure the loan of several thousand cot beds from the Quartermaster's Department of the army and navy.

MORE BILLETS NEEDED.

A heartier response to the advertisements requesting well-disposed people to come forward with the offer of sleeping accommodations is urged. "If more offers to entertain a soldier's mother or father coming from more than a fifty-mile radius of Boston are not received, many soldiers' own folks will be unable to witnes their sons on parade April 25," Captain Rantoul announced today.

The entertainment committee for the returned Y. D. boys opened headquarters today in the Little Building, No. 209 Tremont street, under the chairmanship of former Lieutenant-Governor Edward P. Barry.

Automobile trips for the Y. D. boys and boxing bouts at Fanway Park on April 24 and 25 are among the features being arranged. In the event of rain the boxing bouts will take place in the Grand Opera House, South End, on the same dates.

One-third of all the theatre tickets allotted to the Yankee Division mem? bers will be distributed from the Little Building headquarters, beginning tomorrow. The remaining two-thirds of the theatre tickets to be distributed among the boys are being given out at Camp Devens.

DAILY TRIPS TO CAMP.

Commencing today a "Blue Line" sightseeing auto bearing members of the Mayor's reception committee and representatives of the various regimental auxiliaries will make daily trips to Camp Devens to assist in completing arrangements for entertaining the boys when they come to Boston on April 24.

The members of this committee will co-operate with the Camp Devens officials and welfare workers in providing smooth sailing for the Y. D. aggregation on the occasion of its announced visit to the metropolis.

The distribution of blank forms, upon which application for tickets for relatives to witness the parade must be made, was begun today. Every bonafide Y. D. man will receive preference in the allotment of tickets.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Grayhaired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Advertisement.

DOUBLE WEDDING IS HALTED BY ARREST

Fort Banks Soldier Held on Charge of Illegal Allotment of Pay

Through the arrest of Sergeant Raymond K. Baker, twenty-six years old, of Pawtucket, R. I., on his wedding eve, a double ceremony scheduled to take place this evening in the Walnut Avenue Congregational Church, Roxbury, will result in but a single wedding.

Baker is accused of defrauding the government of his allotment money by having payments made to a Rhode Island woman, now deceased, whom he claimed to be his wife, but to whom he was not legally married.

Thus the romance of an artilleryman stationed at Fort Banks, Winthrop, and a Roxbury nurse has been spoiled.

Miss Helen Mildred MacCaul of No. 75 Dale street, Roxbury, will not become the bride of Sergeant Baker as she expected. Her most intimate friend, Miss Mabel Victoria Tanner of the same address, however, will become the wife of Dana L. Colson of No. 43 Lawrence street, Medford, a discharged soldier.

MOTHER SPILLS THE BEANS.

Postponement of the double ceremony came after the mother of the woman with whom it is charged that Baker lived for seven years as husband and wife notified the army authorities that he had never legally married her daughter, and that he is now collecting money which he had assigned as an allotment to his supposed wife in Pawtucket.

It had been planned that Baker should appear at the home of his intended bride and, accompanied by the other couple to be married, visit the church for a rehearsal of the ceremony with the officiating clergyman, the Rev. Benjamin A. Willmott. The rehearsal was held, but with only one couple, for while Miss MacCaul was interviewing army officers, young Baker was in the guardhouse at the fort in Winthrop pending a decision in his case by a court-martial.

GIRL'S PLANS UNCERTAIN.

Army officials questioned Baker following the receipt of a letter from Rhode Island, and arrested him.

Miss MacCaul said that the invitation for the ceremony had not been recalled, and that she had no knowledge as to when she would be married. Officers at Fort Banks said that Baker will not be married tonight and will not be permitted to leave the guardhouse until his status has been established.

Baker was formerly a member of the Rhode Island Coast Artillery, National Guard, and when war was declared was assigned to the 28th Company of regulars. Later he was transferred to the 2d Company and assigned to Fort Banks.

GALLAGHER TO SPEAK AT KNIGHTS' COMMUNION

Arrangements have been completed for the annual communion and breakfast of Arlington Council, Knights of Columbus, in St. Agnes' Catholic Church, next Sunday morning. The speaker will be Assistant District Attorney Daniel J. Gallagher of Boston.

An engraved roll of honor, presented to the council by Joseph A. Cutcliffe, a past grand knight of the council, bears the names of the forty men of the council who entered war service.

MISS HELEN MILDRED MacCAUL of Roxbury, whose marriage to Sergeant Baker was stopped because of his arrest on a charge of defrauding the government.

48-HOUR BILL NOW AWAITS GOVERNOR

Measure Is Passed by the House With but Five Opponents

Both branches of the Legislature have passed the bill establishing a forty-eight-hour week and nine-hour day for women and minors in Bay State industries. It now awaits action by Governor Coolidge.

The House passed the bill to engrossment on a roll call vote, 205 to 5, the opponents being Representatives Collins of Edgartown, Ellsworth of Barre, Johnson of Worcester, Mellen of Worcester and Powers of Newton.

When the matter was taken up for consideration Representative Powers of Newton moved postponement until Tuesday in order that amendments might be printed and manufacturers might have an opportunity to impart further information. This was followed by considerable discussion and several attempts to further amend the bill, but all of them failed of passage.

On a rollcall vote the House refused, 155 to 53, to pass over the Governor's veto the bill providing for the widening of L street, South Boston.

The committee on waterways and public lands reported "next General Court" on the petition of Mayor Peters for a commission on foreign and domestic commerce and on the petition of the Commission on Waterways and Public Lands that it be authorized to take the Union Freight Railroad Company.

Y. D. PLAYWRIGHT FIRST TO QUIT SERVICE

Lieut. Pendleton Staged 26th's Successful Theatricals in France

Camp Devens, Ayer, April 10.—When Lieutenant A. Pendleton King of the 26th Division at headquarters staff reaches Greenwich Village, New York city, writing plays will be the last thought in his mind. Lieutenant King arranged all theatricals which the Yankee Division put on in France. He is author of a successful play in New York.

Lieutenant Carl Hood, divisional athletic officer, and Lieutenant King were the first two men in the division to receive their discharges. Both King, who has a Croix de Guerre, and Hood are former newspaper men. Hood was employed on the New York American before he entered the service.

Lieutenant Theodore Dubois Ravenel of Charleston, S.C., King's chum, was killed in action on November 10, the day before the armistice was signed.

Captain Reviews U. S. Army, Impersonating General Pershing

Philadelphia, April 10.—Although he didn't know it at the time, Captain J. Aubrey Sutton, U. S. A., took the place of General Pershing and reviewed the American Army of Occupation when it entered Coblenz. The fact has recently been disclosed.

Captain Sutton entered the city. It was dark when he arrived and as he drove his car to the hotel he was met by an American army officer of high rank who asked him to do a favor.

"What is it?" asked Captain Sutton.

"Step into this car and assume a dignified and military bearing," replied the staff officer. Captain Sutton got into the limousine and presently he noticed that he was driving through long ranks of American soldiers who were at "present arms."

Finally the car drove up to a hotel where Captain Sutton was assigned to rooms.

"But what is the favor I am to do?" he asked.

"You have done it," answered the officer. "General Pershing was delayed by a conference and couldn't get here to review the men. You have reviewed the United States Army of Occupation."

REDS SUFFER BIG LOSSES IN 3 DRIVES

Expect Further Bolshevist Offensive Against Railroads in Russia

London, April 10.—Three Bolshevist attempts to break through the front during the past week all failed with heavy casualties to the enemy, the War Office announced today.

It is expected, however, the statement adds, that a further offensive will be launched by the Reds against the railroad.

The above announcement presumably refers to the front in Northern Russia.

Asks $1,000 for Auto Injuries.

Gertrude P. Lovell of Newton has been sued for $1,000 by R. Abbie Heilbrun of Brookline. She alleges that she was injured when the defendant's car collided with the one she was in. James M. Heilbrun of Brookline sues for $500 damage to his car.

"ETERNAL LIGHT" TO BE SHOWN AT WORCESTER

Today and tomorrow only, "The Eternal Light," the feature drama, will be presented at Mechanics' Hall, Worcester, under the auspices of the Rev. J. P. Moore of St. Joseph's Mission Church, Stoneville, Mass.

Father Moore is the head of the Springfield Diocesan Mission Band and one of the best-known lecturers in the country.

The picture is indorsed by Cardinal O'Connell.

The theme of the story is the life and time of Our Lord, and these are vividly reproduced on the screen, faithfully adhering to tradition and the Biblical narrative.

GERMAN SPY IS CONVICTED BY MRS. GERARD

New York, April 10.—How the fine memory of Mrs. James W. Gerard, wife of the former American Ambassador to Berlin, resulted in the conviction of Henry Bode, deserter from the American army and German spy, became known here today.

Bode, after deserting from the American army, made his way back to Germany and enlisted in the German army. He served under Mackensen and was decorated for bravery.

In the fall of 1915 Bode was called to Berlin, was assigned to the German Intelligence Department and was ordered to report to the German Consulate at No. 11 Broadway. Before leaving Berlin he had the audacity to call at the American Embassy there. By mere chance Mrs. Gerard happened to see him at the Embassy, a circumstance which resulted in his conviction when tried for espionage last month at Governors' Island. He was also noted at the Embassy by Mr. Gerard's valet.

From New York Bode went to San Francisco, to the Far East, back to California, to New York, to Havana, to Madrid, to Berlin and finally to Vera Cruz. His own testimony at the court-martial related his Mexican activities against the United States as follows:

"I proceeded to Mexico City and reported to the military attache, a Dr. Mangus. I also met Ambassador von Eckhardt, and we talked plans over and he told me to wait the arrival of other agents because he disagreed with instructions I had from Berlin and was not sure of my identity. My instructions were to blow up the oil fields at Tampico and to embroil the United States into war with Mexico.

"Finally agents arrived from the States—Captain Hinze, formerly captain of the Hamburg American Line, and Captain Nekker, who ran the blockade from Cuba to Baltimore in 1914, who is at present chief of the secret service at Mexico City, with Dr. Brown, once a surgeon on the German cruiser Karlsruhe, as his assistant. It was then agreed I was the most capable man to carry out a project in the United States to blow up the Laguna Dam and destroy the railroad bridge at Yuma.

"Then came the opportunity for which I had been waiting, giving me a chance to connect with the United States government. My instructions were to proceed to Yuma and settle there to live.

"I was to obtain pictures of the bridge and supposed trenches and artillery casements and wire entanglements on the American side of the border."

At La Bolsa, at the mouth of the Colorado River, Bode was arrested by Carranzista troops, but was released. He slipped across the border [illegible] arrested at San Diego and [illegible] here for trial. Mrs. Gerard was the principal witness against him. She positively identified him as a former member of the German army. He was sentenced to ten years at hard labor.

DEMAND GROWS THAT STRIKE BE SETTLED

in favor of settlement of the textile strike.

"Not one of these men are a striker. I believe they represent adequately the sentiment of their city. I believe that the city as a city is losing, and that the tradespeople of Lawrence are suffering severely.

"They expressed what they said was the willingness of the strikers to accept arbitration by any fair person or board.

"They presented no definite plan, but merely urged me to continue along the lines on which I am now proceeding.

"I have received a reply from the American Woolen Company to my request for arbitration, in which it is said the matter will be taken up by the high officials of that company.

"There will be no further move until we have heard from all the mill owners."

The delegates represented that the willingness of the textile strikers to submit to the judgment of such a man as Henry B. Endicott of Boston does away with the idea that the move is not a strike, but a political uprising.

They represented that business was stagnant in Lawrence, while the absentee owners of the mills were ignoring the needs of the city, and planting the seed for future strikes and class hatred

The delegates, who represented the city and a big committee of business and professional men which recently took action, consisted of Mayor Hurley, Alderman Maloney, City Clerk Edward J. Wade, Jeremiah Campopaino, Attorney Angelo Rocco, Frank Pitocchelli, Ferris Marad, Florino Verrecchia, Frank De Cesare, Dominico Campopiano, Peter Claus, John Silvestro, D. Goldberg, Deed Jurdi, J. Findelsen, Baptiste Paglinso and August Detolemare.

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

TELLS SAFE AND SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels, you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment, which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double Strength.) Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh, and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.

Raids Prove There Are 200,000 Drug Addicts in N. Y.

By International News Service.

New York, April 10.—One person out of twenty-five in New York city is a dope fiend. This startling fact was brought to light today when detectives conducting wholesale raids on drug stores and physicians' offices obtained information showing that there are about 200,000 drug users in the metropolis. Physicians declared the high percentage of cocaine, heroin and morphine fiends in New York was probably due to these causes:

The nerve-racking tear of business life in the world's busiest city.

The effect of Broadway night life, dissipation which drives thousands of girls and young men to the drug habit.

The succession of ear-splitting noises, the roar of the subway and the elevated, clanging of street car gongs, honking of thousands of motor vehicles—thing that rack the nerves.

LANDMARKS IN PERIL AT UNION STREET FIRE

Some of the most ancient and honored of Boston's historical landmarks were menaced by a fire at No. 88 Union street, which did $2,000 damage and caused a property loss of several thousands more by water.

The fire started in the basement, occupied by the Rose T Importing Company, and spread to the street floor, also occupied by the importing concern. The smoke spread through the building and to the rooms of the Blackstone Savings Bank in the rear, with an entrance at No. 26 Washington street.

The old Dragon Tavern, where the Sons of Liberty met in pre-Revolutionary days to plan the rebellion, was for a time threatened. Smoke caused damage in the quarters of the Barnard Company, the Melvin Fletcher establishment, Oppenheim Brothers and the M. O'Keefe store.

The blaze was an ugly one to fight and occupied the attention of the firemen for an hour. As soon as it was over the Rose T Company officials got busy repairing the damage and busines was interrupted for less than an hour and a half.

SENATOR WALSH FAVORS MEMORIAL TABLETS

U. S. Senator David I. Walsh has issued a statement indorsing the movement to erest memorial tablets in every ward of the city of Boston, on which will be inscribed the names of soldiers, sailors and marines who served in the European war. "Colonel Gaston and the public-spirited citizens associated with him are entitled to the co-operation and support of all our citizens in their efforts to raise a fund by popular subscription to pay for these tablets," he says.

PEACE TREATY MAY BE READY IN 10 DAYS

questions are being solved, there still remains the problem of Fiume and the territorial dispute between the Italians and the Jugo-Slavs for territory bordering on the northeastern shores of the Adriatic.

SPECULATION OVER KAISER.

There is keen speculation over the future of the Kaiser, now that the "Big Four" have agreed that he might be brought to trial before a tribunal in one of the allied nations. If the decision as to the seat of the trial is based nupon the country that has suffered most from the German invasion, Belgium may be selected.

But France likewise suffered untold horrors under German occupation. It is believed that the proposal to give France the output of the Sarre coal fields in Germany, while allowing the German government to retain sovereignty of the land, will meet with satisfaction in France. France is to get this output of minerals until the coal mines in the Lens district are restored. When the Germans retreated from northern France they systematically wrecked the Lens coal mines, with the result that it will be many years before they are productive once more.

MUST PAY FIVE BILLIONS.

The solution of the indemnity question by which Germany must pay $5,000,000,000 within the next two years was evidently based upon a compromise. But some dissatisfaction may be expressed over the failure of the allies to name a definite amount. It is significant to note that the agreements reported by the big powers followed the return of President Wilson to the sessions following his illness.

From the developments the President evidently carried out his reported plan to make a flat and definite statement of America's position and to make his final say upon his own attitude. In the meantime the peace plenipotentiaries are keeping a watchful eye upon Hungary and the unrest in southern Germany. The Bavarian situation with a soviet government established at Munich is being scrutinized with especial care.

PUPIL KILLED IN QUINCY AUTO UPSET

School. The girls are pupils at Woodward Institute for Girls on Hancock street, which corresponds to a girls' high school.

DEAD.

ALICE KNIGHT, fourteen years, daughter of James Knight, No. 469 Quarry Street extension, Quincy. Pinned under the car.

INJURED.

JOSEPH FLAHERTY, fifteen years, living on Grove street, Quincy, seriously hurt. On "dangerous" list at Quincy City Hospital.

EDITH TRASK, fourteen years, of Willard street, Quincy. Taken home with bruises.

AGNES FERRITER, fifteen years, of Grove street, Quincy. Bruised; taken to Quincy City Hospital.

LESTER HUGHES, fifteen years, of Furnace avenue, Quincy; painful bruises; taken to Quincy City Hospital.

CLARENCE H. TRASK, forty-five years, of No. 627 Willard street; father of Edith Trask, owner and driver of the car; shaken up.

WILLIAM BENNETT, fifteen years, of Grove street; jumped from running board; shaken up.

JOSEPH DILLON, fifteen years, of Willard street; jumped from running board; shaken up.

Mr. Trask had started to drive his daughter to the Woodward Institute in his roadster. He stopped on Adams street, and, according to the police report, took aboard the two other girls and the four high school boys. Young Bennett and Dillon stood on the running board instead of crowding into the seats.

TRIED TO AVOID COLLISION.

On the down-grade of Rice's hill Mr. Trask turned the car so far to one side to avoid a car coming up the hill that, as the police tell it, the off wheels went into the deep gutter. When Mr. Trask tried to swing the car back to the road the vehicle turned turtle.

The crash of the over-turn and the shrieks of the injured boys and girls brought first help from nearest houses.

Alice Knight's life had been crushed out beneath the machine. The police ambulances were called. Joseph Flaherty, Agnes Ferriter, Lester Hughes and Mr. Trask were sent to Quincy City Hospital. Mr. Trask, nerve-racked from the tragedy, was able to go home later from the hospital.

Double the Dealers

There are now more than twice as many United States Tire Sales and Service Depots as were in operation at this time last year.

This is a very significant fact. You can't mistake the meaning of it. It's plain as day.

Obviously, it means the added convenience to you that goes with thousands more places where you can buy United States Tires and secure the perfected United States tire service.

But its real significance lies deeper.

Dealer demand is proof of popularity. The live retailer continually feels the public pulse. You can trust him to sense the tendency of the times.

Which goes to show that United States Tires are selling faster—and faster—and faster.

That motorists recognize—as never before—the manifold advantages of using good tires, —United States Tires.

Careless Use of Soap Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

BLISS NATIVE HERB TABLETS FOR RHEUMATISM.

This painful malady is the direct result of a poisonous condition of the blood. It is caused by a disregard of that condition known as constipation. Unless the alimentary tract is kept clean, sweet and wholesome the food ferments, decays and causes ill health. Bliss Native Herb Tablets are nature's remedy for relieving the system of blood impurities, by maintaining a healthy condition of the liver, kidney and bowels. A box contains 200 tablets, and will last the average family six months. Price $1.00. Be sure and get the genuine and avoid spurious imitations. Says Pile Remedy Worth $100.00 a Box

I have had itching piles ever since my earliest recollection. I am 58 years old and have suffered terribly. I have tried many remedies and doctors, but no cure. About 8 weeks ago I saw your ad for Peterson's Ointment. The first application stopped all itching, and in three days all soreness. I have only used one 35c box and consider I am healed, not feeling any return of the trouble for 6 weeks. You have my grateful, heartfelt thanks, and may everyone that has this trouble see this and give your ointment, that is worth a hundred dollars or more a box, a trial. Sincerely yours, A. Newtn, Columbus, Ohio.

Peterson's Ointment for Piles, Eczema and old sores is only 35 cents a box at all druggists. Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

ZIONISTS PLEDGE FAITH TO PEACE CONFERENCE

Dr. Wise Confident Right of Jewry to Self Government Will Be Recognized

Confidence that the peace conference will recognize the historic claims of the Jewish people to Palestine and enable the Zionist movement to make way for the establishment of a Jewish Commonwealth was expressed by Dr. Stephen S. Wise of New York, head of the commission of the Zionist Organization of America to France, who was the principal speaker at a banquet held at the City Club.

Louis E. Kirstein, chairman of the Greater Boston drive for $100,000, as Boston's quota to the Palestine Restoration Fund, opened the session by introducing as toastmaster Max Mitchell, treasurer of the drive.

PLEDGE $30,000 TO FUND.

At the conclusion of the address, the sum of $30,000 was pledged by those present to the fund. Mr. Kirstein announced that the sum has now reached the $75,000 mark and expressed confidence that the quota will be oversubscribed.

Among the large contributions announced at the dinner are: Sidney S. Conrad, $5,000; Louis E. Kirstein, $2,500; A Friend, $5,000; A. Lincoln Filene, $2,500; S. H. Waldstein, $1,500; A Friend, $1,500; N. A. Pelonsky, $1,000; Edward Rose, $1,000; Israel Nesson, $1,000; E. Van Noorden, $1,000; Edward Hartman, $1,000; Ira Stone, $1,000. Other contributions ranged from $500 to $100.

Dr. Wise, who has recently returned from Europe after important conferences with delegates to the Peace Conference and with Jewish leaders of France, England and Italy, was given a warm ovation. He said in part:

"Two things will come out of the peace conference. The overwhelming of Prussianism was nothing more than a means toward these high ends. These two things—and they are almost interchangeable — are the establishment of a League of Nations, and the securing of independence for the smaller nations.

ASSURES RIGHT OF JEWS.

"If the war had not been fought in order to create such an alliance among the civilized peoples of the earth as would make the peace of justice possible hereafter, it would have become necessary for the Allied nations to devise a method of guaranteeing and perpetuating the moral and political achievements of the war.

"The League of Nations means that the great nations, including our own, England, Italy and France, which have won the war, understand that in the future the right of a people to live is not to be determined by the size of its army or the might of its navy, but by its own will to live, the will to live predicate upon those conditions of nationality and history which are the test of the reality of the claims of a people to live its own life.

"One grave disadvantage under which the Jewish people rest in relation to the peace conference is the status of the Russian Empire, involving as it does a division of the greatest Jewry in the world for a time in any event into a series of relatively lesser Jewries, and the consequent faith of the great Russian Jewry, to exercise in itself and through a free and united Russia.

LEADERSHIP FOR U. S. JEW.

"The task of leadership rests upon American Israel and the task of supreme service falls to the lot of the American Jew.

"The happiest circumstance connected with the Peace Conference arises out of the fact that Jews have no special case to present to the Peace Conference. In other words, we do not and will not appear before the Peace Conference as special pleaders.

"The world has moved since 1878, for the war that has just ended has been fought for the fundamental convictions and contentions of the Jew. What we have long held to be right, the Allied world finally found it necessary to defend at infinite cost of blood and treasure as against the intolerable invasions of justice by Prussianized Central Europe.

"I cannot bring myself to believe that it will be necessary to argue or plead on behalf of Jewish equality of status in European lands before the Peace Conference. A Peace Conference that would suffer a repetition of the Rumanian fiasco of 1878 would be a crime against history and the cause for which the Allied peoples have bled.

"If the victory of 1918 meant more than a military feat, it must mean the end of those disabilities and inequities and injustices of which the Jew has too long been the victim in many European lands.

TRUSTEESHIP TO BRITAIN.

"Great Britain has a tradition of nearly three centuries of wholly just and even generous treatment of the Jew, an attitude culminating in the Balfour declaration of November, 1917. As for France, I have not only confidence in the leadership of the people of France, but I have reason to believe that the French government will not stand in the way of a just and equitable solution of the Palestine problem at the peace conference.

"What we look forward to with grateful satisfaction is that Great Britain shall receive from the League of Nations a mandate which will confer upon Great Britain the power and responsibility of trusteeship for a Jewish Palestine."

OBTAINED SOUVENIRS OF FOE, BUT DIDN'T ARGUE

Fort McPherson, Ga., April 10.—Private Bill Gee has been the acknowledged champion souvenir collector among the wounded at Fort McPherson. Some sixty odd relics collected by Gee include everything from an English money belt to a German iron cross.

But a rival has now put in an appearance in the person of Sergeant William E. Crawford, of Memphis, with a collection containing souvenirs from every nation engaged as a combatant in the world war. "I swapped some of 'em," said the husky Tennessean, "some were given to me and others I just naturally took—nobody ever stopped to argue possession with a Hun."

IDA DEROSIERS and verses written to her in France by brother in army.

To My Kid Sister

You were only a kid, little sister, when
I started over the sea,
But you've grown a lot since I left you,
and you've written a letter to me,
And nobody knows that you wrote it—
it is a secret, and we'll keep it well—
Your brother and you and the ocean, and nobody is going to tell.

You were only a tot when I enlisted; I remember I bade you good-by.
And kissed you a little bit flustered,
and you promised you wouldn't cry.
But I know that you cried, little sister,
as soon as I went out of the door.
And did I cry? (I'm a soldier, so don't ask anything more.)

I think of you often, kid sister; you're the best little sister I've got;
I know you'll be good to our mother,
and I know that you'll help her a lot.
And whenever she seems to be gloomy,
you've just got to cheer her somehow,
You were only a kid to your brother, but you're more than the whole word to him now.

SOLDIER'S POEM INSPIRED BY KID SISTER

There's a little girl up in Ludlow who is one of the proudest girls in the State and it has all come about through a poem which she inspired her brother to write while he was in France.

Midas Derosiers was a private at Panillac, a naval base near Bordeaux, France. One night Midas remembered the little sister at home in Ludlow. He dreamed of her standing under the big elm tree out in the yard thinking of him and wondering if all was well with him.

An inspiration came to him, and he sat down and wrote a poem. He entitled it "To My Kid Sister," and sent it back to the States. It travelled through the western part of the State like a prairie fire. It caught the attention of the Poetry Editor of the American. He sent a request, to Ida for her picture, and it is reproduced here alongside the pretty little poem.

Miss Ida, the "kid sister," writes the American she is a graduate of the Ludlow Grammar School and is now attending the Civil Service Business School in Springfield. She is sixteen years old and she is very proud of that fact.

More than that, she's very proud of her big brother Midas and of the poem that he has written to her. It has been read, she says, from one end of Ludlow to the other, and everyone who has read it or heard it, has appreciated it.

Though she was, perhaps, only a little girl when her brother went away, she realized then, as she realizes now, how wonderful it is to have a brother who went to France to serve his country—and how more than wonderful it is, to have a brother who is coming home again.

Mrs. Wheeler Asks $12,500 From Casualty Company on Husband's Bond

New York, April 10.—Mrs. Claudia T. Carlstedt Wheeler, former actress, announces that she had brought a civil action against the Maryland Casualty Company. She declared this suit is a final effort to regain household furnishings and "personal treasures" worth $12,500 taken from her nine years ago by her husband, Albert Gallatin Wheeler, Jr., wealthy broker. She says:

"I have been upheld by every court in the State in my effort to regain my belongings. But I have been unable to obtain them. The Court of Appeals ruled they were rightfully mine and ordered Mr. Wheeler to restore them to me.

"Nine years ago he received a writ of replevin. He came to my apartment in the Dakota and took everything I owned, except clothes I wore. He carried away even my doll high chairs, my pictures, my beautiful furniture; all. He didn't leave me a chair or a bed.

"In the Supreme Court he said the things belonged to him, but the jury upheld me and awarded me $2,500 damages. He appealed to the Appellate Division. I was again upheld, although the $2,500 award of damages was cancelled on a technicality. Next he appealed to the Court of Appeals. Again I was upheld. That was last December. An order of execution was issued to Sheriff Knott, but was unsatisfied when it expired sixty days later.

"When Mr. Wheler obtained the writ of replevin he was forced to put up a bond for $25,000 with the Maryland Casualty Company. When the highest court in the State upheld me, he had to put another bond for $25,000 to back his promise to surrender my things.

"He never gave them back. I am suing the casualty company to obtain their equivalent in money from the second bond."

In April, 1916, Mrs. Whaler besieged the Union League Club in an effort to have her husband arrested for failure to pay back alimony. Another feature was the sale of Wheeler's seat on the Stock Exchange for $50. It was said last night the Maryland Casualty Company has not filed answer to Mrs. Wheeler's action. Wheeler is reported to be in Chicago.

Mrs. Wheeler's attorney, Jonah Goldstein, verified her statements.

RESTRAIN INCREASE OF TELEPHONE CHARGES

Chicago, April 10.—A decision rendered in Superior Court here permanently restraining Chicago telephone companies from increasing toll rates, as ordered by Postmaster-General Burleson, is regarded as of nation-wide importance. What applies in Illinois was said by some attorneys to apply in other States. The telephone companies may appeal to the Federal Court, but present rates will remain effective pending a decision.

EXTEND CZECHO SLOVAKS $6,330,000 MORE CREDIT

Washington, April 10.—An additional credit of $6,330,000 in favor of the Czecho-Slovak Republic, making a total to date of $41,830,000, has just been announced by the Treasury Department. An additional $900,000 also has been extended to Belgium, making the total of that country $341,455,000, and the grand total of all the Allies $9,016,229,340.75.

Bad Feet—Bad Temper

An irritable and impatient disposition are usually found with people whose nervous systems are constantly disturbed by foot misery. Yet it is a mystery why anyone should try to endure aching, burning, tender, sweating or calloused feet when immediate relief and permanent results can be so easily and positively obtained. Your own druggist or foot doctor will tell you that the Cal-o-cide foot-bath treatment simply works wonders for bad feet, bringing results with the first application. A package of Cal-o-cide costs only a quarter and it also contains little plasters specially made for removing stubborn corns. Start today to enjoy foot comfort and a happy nature.—Advertisement.

This Frees Your Skin From Hair or Fuzz

(Toilet Tips)

The method here suggested for the removal of superfluous hair is quick and certain and unless the growth is extremely stubborn a single application does the work. Make a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water; apply this to the hairy surface and after about 2 minutes rub it off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To avoid disappointment, be sure your druggist sells you delatone.—Advertisement.

PASSES SAWS TO CONVICT, IS CHARGE

Providence Man Given One Year for Alleged Attempt to Free Prisoner

Providence, April 10.—Accused of passing steel saws to a life prisoner at the State Prison, James McLaughlin, alias James Ryan, was sentenced by Judge Louis W. Dunn of the Eighth District Court to one year.

McLaughlin appealed and was held in $2,000 bail to await a further hearing.

Prison officials say McLaughlin tried to help "Bill" Trent, a life prisoner, by deftly passing the saws to Trent. They also say that Trent admitted receiving the same from McLaughlin.

The inside story is told by an eye witness, who said the saws were later found in the shoes of another prisoner after McLaughlin was allowed to depart. He was arrested an hour later.

At the prison it is the custom to allow visitors to talk through a wicket, where cigarettes and other harmless appearing articles are handed to the prisoners.

It is claimed that Warden Linscott became suspicious of the size of articles said to have been handed through by McLaughlin and Trent was immediately searched. Nothing of a desperate nature was found on him. Trent immediately started for his cell to get a letter which was shown to McLaughlin.

BOARD ORDERS ILLEGAL MEDICAL WORK STOPPED

Lawrence, April 10.—Lawrence physicians are mentioned as having been associated with David J. Khoury, who, the health officials charge, practiced medicine illegally in this city.

Khoury when brought before the Board of Health mentioned the names of prominent medical men. They deny they ever knew Khoury as a doctor.

Chairman Daniel J. Murphy of the Board of Health called Khoury a "capper," and said he did not want to bring in the names of prominent doctors, but declared he would not purchase their good will in withholding public mention of them at the expense of the public.

The arrest of an alleged doctor and a heavy penalty has driven many "fake" doctors out of business. The health authorities have ordered Khoury to cease practising medicine here.

LEXINGTON POLICE START CRUSADE ON SPEEDERS

Lexington, April 10.—The police of this town have started a drive on speeders and many motorists are being summoned to appear in the District Court at Concord. Motorists who drive faster than twenty miles an hour through the town will be arrested. During the past year the police here conducted many automobile traps to catch automobilists violating the traffic laws. Traffic here has been increased with the return of the 26th Division.

TWO SECOND STORY BREAKS AT ARLINGTON

The Arlington police department, which has been running down petty breaks in that town lately, has two more thefts of this nature. Entrance in both instances was gained by way of the second story. One was in the home of Gorham H. Davis at No. 107 Jason street, and the other in the residence of Ferdinand T. Smith at No. 18 Lombard road. About $15 was taken from each house.

Sisters Bring Wrong Body from Florida to Wakefield

Travelling all the way from St. Petersburg, Fla., to Wakefield, Mass., with a casket supposedly containing the body of their dead brother, only to discover upon their arrival in Wakefield that it was the body of an utter stranger, was the experience of Nancy H. Thayer and Mrs. Mary Pratt.

The body was supposed to be that of Ashton H. Thayer, who died at St. Petersburg last week. Mr. Thayer was for twenty-three years a member of the Wakefield School Board, and was a past president of the New England News Dealers' Association.

Early in the year he journeyed to Florida with his two sisters. His death there came after several years of ill health. Arrangements were immediately made to ship the body back to Wakefield.

Meanwhile, the funeral which was to have been held today, has been postponed, the body of an unidentified man lies in a Wakefield undertaking shop, and a tracer has been sent out to locate the body of Ashton H. Thayer.

SAYS MONITOR WASTED FUNDS OF CHURCH

Teachings of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy Were Undermined, Charges Dittemore

Charges of gross extravagance in the management of the Christian Science Publishing Society and the undermining of the doctrines of Mary Baker Eddy were included in the answer filed by John V. Dittemore to the suit of the directors of the mother church against the publishers.

He further charged the publishing society with the loss of large amounts through mismanagement.

SAYS DIRECTORS INFLUENCED.

Another feature of Mr. Dittemore's answer is his declaration that the manual or by-laws of the Christian Science Church as administered by the board of directors is the supreme authority over all departments of Christian Science activity, including The Christian Science Publishing Society.

It is alleged that a majority of the directors had been influenced and intimidated by the trustees in combination with Frederick Dixon, the editor of The Christian Science Monitor, and that the circulation of the Monitor, the daily paper of the Christian Science movement, has been misrepresented.

GOES TO MASTER SOON.

Mr. Dittemore's answer to the suit of the publishing society, which involves a question of authority of directors of the mother church, was filed with the clerk of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court by his counsel, consisting of General Frank S. Streeter of Concord, N. H., for many years the personal attorney of Mrs. Eddy; William G. Thompson of Boston and Fred C. Demond of Concord, N. H.

It is expected that the case will be sent to a master within the next few weeks, when the evidence on all sides will be submitted.

CITY POINT CARS TO RUN INTO SUBWAY

General Manager C. D. Emmons of the Boston Elevated announces an important change, intended to improve traffic conditions in South Boston. It is proposed to continue the tracks over Broadway Extension to the entrance of the Tremont street subway at Broadway Extension, in order to use thirty-five of the sixty-five new centre entrance cars promised to South Boston to the best advantage. It will provide a trunk line from City Point to the North Station over Broadway Extension and through the entire length of the Tremont street subway.

The present infrequent lines operated to Copley Square, to Essex street, to North Station via Federal street and to Broadway Station, lower level, will be discontinued.

HISTORY of the YANKEE DIVISION

by HARRY A. BENWELL

OFFICIAL STORY OF GREAT BATTLE AT CHATEAU THIERRY

This is the [illegible] instalment of the "History of the Yankee Division," which began in the Sunday Advertiser-American on March [illegible]. [illegible] to the division, the first instalment of the story of the remarkable quick organization and debarkation of the division followed. It was the [illegible] complete unit to land in France from the United States.

The story of [illegible] during the winter months in the training areas and [illegible] taking his entire division into the front line trenches followed. How the Yankees defeated the Germans in their first skirmishes in "No Man's Land" is a thrilling tale. The 26th fought and won their first big fight at Apremont, and followed this by defeating some of the German crack shock troops at Seicheprey. The 102d Infantry won distinction in this engagement. Then came the engagement at Fleury, and the great story of the Yankee Division being rushed to Chateau Thierry to halt the rush of the Germans toward Paris.

CHAPTER XI.

"Saviors of Paris."

The [illegible] Second Division was immediately relieved, concentrated in the Meaux area and the majority removed to Soissons. The Yankee Division men took over the sector on an extended front, and were the only troops between Chateau Thierry and Paris. As a result of their defense of this line they received the name of the "Saviors of Paris."

Then Marshal Foch pulled off the boldest stroke of the war. With the [illegible] of the second battle of the Marne [illegible] reserves drawn [illegible] of operations [illegible] opportunity [illegible] flank [illegible] Chateau Thierry [illegible] to envelop [illegible] It was [illegible] stroke [illegible] Marne.

At [illegible] to brigadier general [illegible] 51st [illegible] 26th [illegible] Infantry Brigade [illegible] Sherburne of the 101st Field Artillery had been made brigadier general and commanded the artillery brigade.

"The Stars and Stripes," the paper published [illegible] for the members of the American Expeditionary Forces [illegible] the 26th Division [illegible] as follows:

CHATEAU THIERRY BATTLE.

"The sector northwest of Chateau Thierry was [illegible] pleasant place in the middle of July, 1918. [illegible] and in [illegible] from [illegible] and Bouresches around [illegible] north edges of the Bois [illegible] Bussiares [illegible] fire [illegible] to the northeast [illegible] the edges of the woods [illegible] creek and [illegible] ruined villages of Belleau and [illegible] the American [illegible]

[illegible] of the 26th [illegible] orders came from General Liggett commanding the First United States Corps to go [illegible] and chase the Germans [illegible]

"There was no [illegible] on but from [illegible] As the division lay in sector the 101st Infantry was on the extreme right near Vaux, facing north; then came the 102d Infantry extending to a little beyond Bouresches and facing east, then the 104th Infantry, in the Bois de Belleau, facing east and northeast, and then the 103d Infantry on the extreme left facing northeast and north.

ACTED AS PIVOT.

"In the terms of the general counter offensive the 26th Division was to act as a pivot until the bulge in the [illegible] front running northwest toward the Forest de Villers-Cotterets should be hammered [illegible] the [illegible] of the division to [illegible] northward and northeast [illegible] on the 26th [illegible] it, [illegible] getting [illegible] swinging [illegible] to the northeast [illegible] should have been straightened.

"This accomplished [illegible] would next be necessary for the right of the division to attack, half of it to the east ward and half [illegible] a straightaway advance to the northeast would be in order. It was a problem for Yankee ingenuity to solve and as usual it was solved.

"Three support battalions of General Cole's brigade went [illegible] the front [illegible] but covered by a neutralizing fire from the batteries of the 101st Field Artillery, at 4:35 o'clock that morning: the 2d Battalion of the 103rd Infantry, charging northeast out of the Bois de Belleau to take the railroad line in the creek valley between Bouresches and [illegible] the 3rd Battalion of the 104th [illegible] north to take Belleau and Givry and the railroad between them and the 3rd Battalion of the 103rd on the [illegible] going north to take Torcy and the railroad beyond.

"A heavy morning mist favored the [illegible] of [illegible] the [illegible] von Boehn's 7th German Army was taken by surprise. At 5:40 a [illegible] signal rocket [illegible] up from Torcy [illegible]

American observation posts that [illegible] were [illegible] the town [illegible]

BATTALION CONFUSED.

[illegible] the darkness of the Bois [illegible] Belleau [illegible] its attack delayed [illegible] until 7:30. But [illegible] the enemy was now thoroughly aroused and making a vigorous resistance. The Americans [illegible] cleaned up Belleau and [illegible] a sharp bayonet fight [illegible] was over by 8:30, and then [illegible] troops at Monument Ridge [illegible] on halfway up the slopes of Hill 193 north of Givry, before they could be stopped.

"This hill, however, was in the [illegible] of the 167th French Division, [illegible] advancing troops of the [illegible] were still far from it, the Germans were [illegible] and the Germans [illegible] it [illegible] commanding [illegible] the front of the 167th [illegible] better fire southward than any post on the Americans' right take up along the creek valley or the hills east of it as far as Bouresches.

"This last fact had a direct bearing on the [illegible] of the American right [illegible] went over, with [illegible] railroad and also [illegible] was obliged to fall back [illegible] and to remain [illegible] with the greatest difficulty to the railroad grade, owing to the enfilade from Hill 193. Here Captain Hosford's men, burrowing out fox holes along the grade, stayed all day, while many such acts of heroism were performed as those of Mechanic J. A. Thibodeau, who aided the wounded under fire until a shot in the hand prevented him from carrying stretchers any longer, when he joined the line and continued fighting until shot again in the leg.

COMMUNICATION DIFFICULT.

"But across the fire-[illegible] in rear of them it was impossible to bring supplies of ammunition and after dark they fell back to the edge of the woods, the detachment of the 103d Infantry [illegible] Bouresches [illegible] to remain in possession of [illegible] exposed point.

"The battalion [illegible] under Major Lewis in Belleau [illegible] they were no [illegible] where the [illegible] but the ground [illegible] them [illegible] out of [illegible] two runners going back and forth with messages during the day, five were killed and twelve wounded, only a few [illegible] through as did Private [illegible] company H, who delivered a message after seeing [illegible] runners killed in one [illegible] the same route [illegible]

"There was nothing [illegible] 26th [illegible] for the 167th Division [illegible] its first objective the [illegible] Hill 193. On the [illegible] the French were [illegible] were [illegible] Hill 193 [illegible] would [illegible] assault [illegible] Division was ordered [illegible] the afternoon of the [illegible] being to [illegible] northeast [illegible] the creek [illegible] Les Brusses Farm [illegible] La Gonetrie Farm.

ATTACKED ON TIME.

"There was no [illegible] the corps artillery [illegible] barrage [illegible] of the division [illegible] time. On the [illegible] Brigade [illegible] 103d Infantry [illegible] on these [illegible] 101st Infantry drove north into Bois de la Hermardiere, echeloning on the left when in contact with the other battalion and thus swinging itself to face northeast also.

"On the division's left, the 52nd Brigade [illegible] this time. The shift [illegible] Bois de Ba[illegible]

[illegible] in fact, [illegible] the point of the [illegible] somewhat [illegible] dropped back [illegible] Thierry [illegible] 26th [illegible] at the apex [illegible] the Bois de Ba[illegible] States on [illegible] the ravines [illegible] left flank at [illegible] four kilometres from [illegible]

HAVE FEW HOURS REST.

[illegible] for the advance guard under Major Lewis, most of the troops of [illegible] had a few hours rest two or three kilometres west of the German machine guns in Epieds and Trugny [illegible] the country [illegible] But at gray dawn [illegible] one battalion each of the [illegible] Infantry advancing [illegible] two [illegible] battalions of the 101st [illegible] the Bois de Barbillon. About [illegible] south of [illegible] flank the [illegible]

"The [illegible] batteries [illegible] five kilometres back [illegible] where the front lines were and [illegible] artillery [illegible] in a deluge of gas and high explosive. [illegible] captured German machine gun [illegible] Farm [illegible] sector of the 167th Division which [illegible] assault [illegible] fell back [illegible] retreat.

Yet the men of the left [illegible] Trugny and [illegible] were turned back, while the [illegible] Machine Gun Battalion, skirting with the infantry of its regiment the Bois de Barbillon, penetrated the Bois de Trugny [illegible]

[illegible] Farm was [illegible] 26th Division [illegible] a better [illegible] Division artillery several times took a hand by extending its zone of fire entirely across the 167th's sector.

"[illegible] very difficult under such conditions, but it was maintained [illegible] Corporal J. L. Casey [illegible] 102nd Infantry, who [illegible] communication between [illegible] the regiment on the [illegible] open field and [illegible] other men had been [illegible] guns in making the [illegible]

"The [illegible] front line [illegible] known on the morning [illegible] artillery prepared [illegible] tion for a [illegible] from the right [illegible] Bois de Trugny [illegible] made by the 101st Infantry, extended to the left by the 2nd [illegible] under Major [illegible]

Who's Who in the 26th Division

BRIG. GEN. JOHN H. SHERBURNE

Brigadier-General John H. Sherburne, commanding the 51st Artillery Brigade of the 26th Division, went from this country as colonel of the 101st Field Artillery. He is a lawyer and served two terms in the Massachusetts Legislature. His home is at No. 92 High street, Brookline. He is forty-one years of age.

His military service began March 24, 1896, when he was attached to Battery A of the Massachusetts Field Artillery. On March 2, 1916, he became colonel of the First Regiment of Artillery of Massachusetts.

During the border trouble with the Mexicans in 1916 he commanded the First Regiment of Field Artillery. Brigadier-General Sherburne is married.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Relieve Your Indigestion With A Laxative

Dyspeptics know that indigestion is accompanied by constipation, and that until the bowels can be regulated so they will act freely and naturally every day at a stated time, swallowing dyspepsia tablets is of little use.

A great and growing number of sufferers from this trouble find immediate and then permanent relief by the use of a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The laxative herbs act on the bowels and the pepsin and extracts on the digestive tract, forming an exceptionally effective laxative-tonic.

It is a combination that has been found wonderfully helpful in indigestion, constipation, biliousness, headaches, bad breath, belching and gas on the stomach. A small dose is all that is required.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

PRICE AS ALWAYS

In spite of greatly increased laboratory costs due to the War, by sacrificing profits and absorbing war taxes we have maintained the price at which this family laxative has been sold by druggists for the past 26 years. Two sizes—50c and $1.00.

FREE SAMPLES—If you have never used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin send for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 468 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. If there are babies at home, ask for a copy of Dr. Caldwell's book, "The Care of Baby."

The People Who Work With Swift & Company

Big Business is usually pictured in the public mind as a huge, soulless machine. As a matter of fact, it is just a collection of human beings like you.

Without boasting and simply to give the public an idea of the human side of Swift & Company, we publish the following facts:

The lowest rate of wages paid to men has been increased voluntarily and by arbitration 167 per cent in the past three years; the wages of all packing-house labor have been increased an average of 125 per cent.

There is an Employes' Benefit Association (voluntary) providing disability and death benefits for a small weekly payment. Sick allowances are granted in times of illness, and pensions for disability and old age are provided without expense to the employe.

Under a two year time payment plan 4,000 employes have become shareholders in Swift & Company.

Company physicians attend employes needing their help at the plant and at home, without charge.

More than 1,500 of the 7,500 men who left to join the army and navy have returned to their jobs, and jobs are waiting for the others as soon as they return.

At the general office in Chicago, every boy is given an hour's schooling daily on company time, such work being accredited by the high school authorities in securing a two year commercial course diploma.

A summer home is maintained at Fish Lake, Indiana, near Chicago, where women plant employes may spend their vacations, without cost.

Swift & Company is co-operating with other employers to improve living conditions around the stock yards.

More and more thought and attention are being given to the opportunity and responsibilities presented in a big industry to improve working conditions and to raise living standards.

These are beginnings of a broad, constructive program, details of which are now being worked out by the Employes' Relations Committee of Swift & Company.

Petition to the Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy to send Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Home with Six Months' Pay

Sign this petition; get your friends to sign it, and forward it to the Boston American, 80 Summer st., Boston, Mass.

To the Honorable Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War:
To the Honorable Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy:

[illegible] to return to their homes as soon as possible the soldiers, sailors and [illegible] who have [illegible] America had in the war.

We urge also [illegible] the necessary authority to pay these men their military wages for six months or for some sufficient period after their discharge from the army until they can obtain useful and remunerative employment.

We urge this as an act of [illegible] a great nation to its heroes.

The Culver

THE man who is young in spirit as well as he who is young in years, is leaning more and more toward this Morse Store, because our entire organization is saturated with the idea of appealing to the progressive man with modern ideas in apparel as well as in thought.

The Culver typifies this idea of modish dress for the younger man. Its graceful lines, accentuated by its prominent waist line effect, and its slashed diagonal pockets breathes the spirit of youth without loudness of expression.

Produced in rich fabrics, many of the much-wanted greens and browns, tailored in the inimitable Morse manner,

MEN'S Filene's SHOPS

To the man released from Camp Devens:

You'll need "civies" the first thing. We have them; plenty of them; the kind of clothes you're looking for; low prices, too!

Ten feet from our men's entrance on Washington street is a men's escalator that will whisk you upstairs and into our men's shops in three shakes of a lamb's tail.

Perhaps you're not specially "flush." No wonder if you're not—and no matter, either, if you come here. You'll find you don't have to pay any fancy price for good clothes—at the Filene men's shops.

good suits, $25

But whatever the price you want to pay, you will be helped to invest it so every dollar will work overtime for you by our salesmen. It's safe to put yourself in their hands; they can't satisfy us till they've satisfied you. Your money back at any time, if you're not.

TRIBE WINS EVEN THOUGH TYRUS POLES HOMER

By NICK FLATLEY.

Gastonia, N. C., April 10.—The much-heralded presence of Ty Cobb not having made any [illegible] the general scheme of things [illegible] back in Rock Hill [illegible] the Braves [illegible] they have the Tiger series as good as won.

This [illegible] the Tigers [illegible] to three and [illegible] staged a [illegible] come back after the enemy had [illegible] through three straight and was apparently headed for a [illegible].

[illegible] past [illegible] trouble [illegible] safely [illegible] went [illegible] by a 6-3 score.

[illegible] for even [illegible] letters [illegible] hope out of the picture for the other fellows.

TY POLES A HOMER

[illegible] of the [illegible] eyes of hundreds of the girl [illegible] of a [illegible] college [illegible] open [illegible] season by blazing out a [illegible] to keep [illegible] in the very first [illegible].

[illegible] two walks after that, was [illegible] and all [illegible] pretty good [illegible]. [illegible] years haven't affected him a [illegible] all appearances. [illegible] the Braves [illegible] pretty [illegible] crowd.

Young McQuillan had his first trial [illegible] ball. [illegible] Scott succeeded and, after [illegible] saluted him with a triple, went [illegible] nonchalantly like an Alexander or somebody.

SCOTT KEEPS IT UP.

[illegible] contributed his usual long [illegible] sending Tyrus away back to [illegible] of the big lot for [illegible] the [illegible] off a run in the eighth and [illegible] the seal of Braves victory [illegible] game.

The blow was a line drive, hit with the count three and two, and would [illegible] a homer for any other [illegible] in the national pastime. Slugger Jack is not the best of sprinters. Our friend Hughie [illegible] noticed after the dust had cleared that Big Jack was as close an approach to the well known Babe Ruth as ever he had seen. Scotty [illegible] feet, he is just about as hard as R[illegible] and hasn't the slightest tendency to go after wide pitches.

The past week has been blazing hot and [illegible].

JAMES COMING AROUND.

Big William James, the pitcher who hasn't pitched since hectic 1914, has been working out daily, and it isn't telling a [illegible] secret to say that bigger hopes of his recovery are now in the Stallings mind than ever.

Yesterday Bill worked for [illegible] twenty minutes [illegible]. [illegible] but it is plain to be seen he has dreams of some more baseball glory.

[illegible] bad ankle [illegible] recovered and the big [illegible] youth is [illegible] to go in any time. His absence has given young King a chance to show his ability, and he has profited thereby.

Right now King is hitting better than any of the regulars. He tore off three real blows yesterday and has plenty of confidence at the plate.

Unless Riggert recovers his batting form shortly King is likely to force him to the bench for a time.

WHEN THE EAGLE GIGGLED

WHEN the eagle screamed in 1917 Bill Ja[illegible]bo was staked to a junior partnership in the walking department of Uncle Sam's overseas circus. He was out to make the works safe for democracy and Home Guards. Bill paddled his dogs down Tremont street between two rows of cheering cuckoos who couldn't hear the eagle chirp unless it was on a dollar bill. From his corns to his army haircut, Bill was dolled up in the regulation O. D. pedestrian trousseau. He wore a No. 7 boiler on his skull and toted a trench piano and accessories on his spinepiece.

Bill weighed about 792 pounds from hat to his hobnailed feet, of which 178 pounds were Bill. The rest was garnishings. Something like a steak en casserole. Bill didn't know exactly what it was all about, but he knocked so many Jerries loose from their life insurance that they pinned enough medals on his [illegible] to balance the load on his back. This made Bill look like a sandwich man for a hardware factory.

About this time Jerry figured that he had a [illegible]ful and took it on the loop for the old home plate. Bill had one flipper shot away and had lost all the legs that a guy can conveniently spare. He had been laid up with ptomaine poisoning from biting a Jerry in the neck, which earned him another yard of medal pieces. Bill wasn't vicious, but anything was a change from the O. D. army beans.

In order to save Bill's thumb, the army surgeon had amputated his little finger at the elbow, but Bill figured that there was just enough of him left to hold his old job down when he again parked his hobspiked dogs on the star spangled real estate of Boston and vicinity. The eagle had screamed with a chorus by the entire company and Bill was coming home.

Still Screaming

COMING up the bay, a herd of tugboats whistled in eight colors and pink.

The same cuckoos who had cheered Bill east were there to cheer him west. They wined him and cheered him and dined him and cheered him.

Bill was wondering about his old job, but nobody could stop cheering him long enough to put him hep. Everybody cheered themselves dizzy, but Bill couldn't figure where things had changed much since he ankled down the big highway two years ago. They were still doing the cheering and he was still doing the walking.

Jobbed Out of the Old Job

WHEN they mustered Bill out they slipped him enough kale to take him home, provided that he didn't live more than a nickel away. Bill walked up the old street and life was just one cheer after another with another cheer in between. He asked a traffic cop the way to his old building and the cop gave him three cheers but no directions.

Bill figured you couldn't get fat on cheers until some bird invented a method of harnessing acoustics. He finally dug up the old building and walked up thirty-six flights of stairs as the elevator boy was out cheering a parade. When he flatwheeled into the office the boss got up on the mezzanine floor of his desk and cheered Bill dizzy.

Bill tried to ask for his old job back, but all the boss would give him was three cheers.

The eagle was still screaming, but Bill was wishing he would stop the Caruso stuff and lay a few eggs.

Cheers That Don't Cheer

AFTER the office force had cheered him on his way Bill popped into two hundred and sixteen other offices, but all he got was a complete set of cheers. Bill hoofed it down Tremont street, puffing like a mule trying to do a locomotive's work.

Bill had made the world safe for everybody but himself.

GIANTS PUMMEL CALDWELL AND WIN, 7 TO 2

By JACK CONWAY.

Spartanburg, N. C., April 10.—The station master blinked drearily as the Red Sox and Giants captured this law abiding hamlet by storm.

The arrival of so many strangers at first alarmed the guardian of the railroad sector, and it was several minutes before he decided that a state of passiveness was the best to assume.

While the ball players discussed geography with bystanders Barrow and McGraw laid out trenches for today's battle, the sixth of the series.

The Boston manager announced there was not any enjoyment in staging frolics on a corrugated iron infield such as they had at Columbia, S. C., where the Giants managed to win a game from the Champions by a count of 7-2.

Joe Bush, who is fast rounding into condition, and Sam Jones were carded to oppose the outfit from big Broadway Friday. Jones has warmed up each day this week, but as his arm has not been just right he has not been sent into the box.

Although beaten at Columbia there were two bright features in the work of the Sox. They were the batting of George Moorefield, the rookie catcher, and the hurling of George Winn, who hails from [illegible] of Macon, Ga.

Winn and Moorefield replaced Caldwell and McNeil in the sixth inning when the Giants had a 5-2 lead.

In two times at bat Moorefield [illegible] a double and a single. He hits the ball almost as hard as Babe Ruth without using the tremendous swing the fence-buster calls into play when he decides to put the old onion outside the lot.

The kid played with the South Atlantic League two years ago, where he made a reputation as a home run hitter. He became a free agent when that organization suspended operations last Spring and then played on one of the du Pont nines. He was at Tampa when the Sox arrived, asked for a tryout and got it.

Unkissed by War Prices

Here is one soft top that war prices haven't touched. Delano beat them to it. Anticipating the upward trend of hat prices, several hundred dozen were paid for months ago. It is called the Jupp. Comes in the popular snuff shade, with a heavy corded inch ribbon band. Richly lined in white silk. At $5. Its price has a host of imitators, but not its quality!

When a Girl Marries

A NEW SERIAL OF YOUNG MARRIED LIFE

By Ann Lisle.

CHAPTER CIV.

Copyright 1919, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

MY tete-a-tete tea with Virginia carried me back from the friendly atmosphere of the early afternoon to our old unsisterly relationship. She was distrait and distant. The subject of Pat Dalton was now as distinctly taboo as if she'd forbidden the mention of his name.

Just how she managed to convey her impression without saying a word I don't know. But this I do know: I hadn't brought her a jot nearer Pat Dalton.

I left Virginia and walked home feeling that I'd done far more harm than good. It doesn't seem possible that I can ever again hope to bring Pat and Virginia together. I have no new [illegible] I don't even know what part [illegible] an [illegible] separation [illegible] ward [illegible] entered into a [illegible] way [illegible] Iwo[illegible] can be that desp[illegible] abe [illegible] wrecker of homes.

[illegible] hours [illegible] was brought [illegible] home [illegible] apartment's entrance hall I found Phoebe and Evvy [illegible] conversation, and seeming [illegible] conscious of the [illegible] discomfort of the [illegible] little [illegible] were sitting side by side [illegible] their [illegible] couple of chairs.

A [illegible] defiantly Phoebe held up her [illegible] heart-shaped face to be kissed. The last time I'd seen her had been when the maid had reported that Long Distance had said [illegible] answer, and she'd rushed from the room [illegible] with that trouble-brewing revelation that Douglas the Florist had identified the sender of Virginia's anonymous flowers as a [illegible] man with iron gray [illegible]

"Come up [illegible] girls!" I insisted [illegible] I'd try to make up for your long, cold wait in the hall."

Evvy laughed out her answer as we stepped into the elevator.

"Well, we got acquainted, and that warmed things up. Phoebe's going to have dinner with me tonight, to cement the friendship of the Harrisons and the Masons."

[illegible] thought I could detect an ugly [illegible] without knowing [illegible] friendship [illegible]

"And leave Virginia alone?" I asked, throwing open the door of my home.

"Virginia has a 'date'" [illegible] Phoebe [illegible] "She doesn't worry [illegible] leaving me alone when Mr. Blake invites her out."

A shade of expression flickered across Evvy's face and was gone again before I could make an effort to read it.

"Why don't you girls stay here? That would be fun," I suggested.

"Oh, [illegible] home [illegible] tonight. I'm taking Phoebe to the dearest little French restaurant where she can see a bit of life," replied Evvy lightly.

While we were speaking Evvy, humming a tune indifferently and idly, crossed to the big carved chest.

"I'll play you a game of checkers whether we go or stay," she suggested with a casual and aimless air.

Then she manipulated whatever strange device it was that opened the secret compartment where she'd thrust the checkerboard after her game with [illegible] the long-ago time when he was ill and she had played nurse while I went out for a breath of air with Sheldon Blake.

Of a sudden Evvy leaned down with an air of sweeping. When she straightened up again there was a [illegible] twisting at the mouth corner—In one hand she held the checkerboard. From the forefinger of the other hand there dangled the ring on which hung Tom's Mason's duplicate keys.

U. S. STEEL RISES ON TONNAGE REPORT

Shipping and Motor Issues Show Large Gains; Specialties the Feature

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Irregularity marked the market in New York in the afternoon, when trading was still very active and steels higher. There was a general advance during the noon period. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem B showed more than a point gain. The former improved after the publication of its tonnage report for March. The statement was better than many had expected. Among the weakest issues was American International Corporation, it having declined more than three points at its lowest. Strongest stocks included Atlantic Gulf, Marine preferred, Bethlehem B, Chandler, Pierce Arrow, International Agricultural Chemical, Worthington Pump, Jewell Tea and American Ice. Trading exceeded the million-share day rate, transactions for the morning totalling around 500,000 shares.

U. S. Steel was up 1¼ at 99¾, its highest for the day, before 2 o'clock, and other important gains included Bethlehem B 2⅛ at 74¼, Atlantic Gulf 5 at 128, Marine preferred 2¼ at 114, Chandler 6½ at 144, Pierce Arrow 2¼ at 50¼, Worthington Pump 2 at 67½, Jewell Tea 2 at 44¼ and International Agricultural Chemical preferred 1¼ at 75¼.

American International Corporation was off 1¼ at 87; U. S. Rubber, 1 at 87½; American Sugar, 1 at 129, and Associated Dry Goods, 1⅛ at 35⅝. Most declines were fractional.

IRREGULAR AT NOON.

Stocks were irregular in New York at noon, but the majority were showing losses. Motors were the strongest group and Chandler led the whole list for a sensational advance. At its highest during the morning it was showing 14½ points gain, selling as high as 152. The market was buoyant at the opening, but during the first hour realization selling was on a large scale and it failed during the rest of the forenoon to regain its earliest price level. U. S. Steel stayed up, after its opening decline. Shipping issues held advances better than oils. Rails and coppers receded before midday. Trading was very active, first hour transactions totaling more than 300,000 shares.

Stocks to sell at record high prices during the day included Associated Dry Goods, Kelly-Springfield, Burns Brothers, General Motors, Rumely and Chandler. Others to sell at their highest this year included Pierce Arrow, Bethlehem B, Westinghouse and Studebaker. Atlantic Gulf went to its highest since 1916. Pierce Arrow was in strong demand, while there was persistent buying of Chandler for a time.

It was rumored in regard to Chandler that recapitalization is planned and that increased dividends are a prospect.

VENTURA OIL ACTIVE.

The Boston market was firm at the opening, but price changes were small. Ventura Oil and Stewart Manufacturing were early leaders for strength and activity. The former made a new high for the year, while the other sold at its record highest. There was considerable trading in United Shoe. Packing issues ruled higher. Coppers were irregular, but trading in mining shares was relatively limited. Little interest was shown in local tractions.

ADVANCED AT THE START.

The bull movement was continued in the New York market at the start, almost all issues selling higher on earliest transactions. Trading was of large volume at the beginning, although not as hectic as during the first thirty minutes of the previous session. Speculative spirit was unabated and orders to buy had accumulated from all sections over night. Sensational advances in some stocks are alluring to the public. The public is now in the market. Specialties were still to the fore. A number sold at their record highest on very first sales. While business in some industrials was continued on unwonted scale, the bygone leaders of speculation were comparatively dull, although U. S. Steel remained the leader and strengthened the list when it advanced.

IRREGULAR WITHIN AN HOUR.

U. S. Steel declined on its first sale, recovered on its second and moved up a fraction, fluctuating during the first hour within a point. Other steels reflected its movement. Shipping and oil issues made early gains. Coppers and rails had a moderate and very quiet improvement. After half an hour the usual increase in offerings caused a slight reaction. At the end of an hour the market had a strong undertone, but verged on irregularity. News from Paris regarding the peace conference was reassuring, but that such reports were much of a market influence is questioned. Stocks advanced more this week when it was reported that a crisis had been reached. The greatest factors no doubt are crop prospects and vehement belief that no mater what happens elsewhere the United States is going to prosper. The sensational rise of some industrial stocks is due more or less to manipulation. The market would inspire more confidence as discounting the future if standard stocks were as strong and active.

Corporation Earnings

For the first 1919 quarter the Lackawanna Steel Co. reports total net earnings after providing for taxes and all expenses of $1,997,891 against $3,040,521 in corresponding quarter of 1918 and a surplus after depreciation of $1,207,109, contrasted with $2,277,281.

The Union Oil Co. of California reports for the three months ended March 31 last sales of $12,270,000 against $9,170,000 in the same months in 1918, and net profits subject to Federal taxes of $2,350,000.

The American Stores Co. reports for 1918: Sales $62,315,465 compared with $58,123,807 in 1917; net profits $2,601,185 contrasted with $2,207,716; surplus after preferred dividends, etc., $535,691 compared with $1,083,054.

THE EDISON ELECTRIC ILLUMINATING COMPANY OF BOSTON
DIVIDEND NO. 120

A quarterly dividend of three (3) per cent, has been declared, payable May 1, 1919, to stockholders of record at the close of business April 15, 1919.

T. K. CUMMINS, Treasurer.
Boston, April 8, 1919.

N. Y. EXCHANGE ABOLISHES SHORT SALE REPORTS

New York, April 10.—New York Stock Exchange governors have voted to abolish daily reports on short sales. Such reports have been required from members since Nov. 1 last. The rule requiring reports to the exchange clearing house on transactions in non-clearing house stocks was rescinded also.

Endicott Johnson on Curb

The listing committee of the New York Curb has approved for temporary trading 420,000 common shares, par value $50, and 150,000 preferred shares, par value of $100, of the Endicott Johnson Corporation, to be traded in "when, as and if issued."

U. S. SHIP COST LOWEST IN WORLD

Now Building Vessels at Yearly Rate Exceeding 3,000,000 Tons

It is believed that shipbuilding costs in this country will be reduced to a point justifying the prediction made by Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board after his visit to Europe. He expressed belief then that American shipyards would be able to build below the costs of competing countries.

Government contracts during the war, and when demand for shipping was most urgent, called for payments of from $185 to $225 a ton, but now the Submarine Boat Corporation offers to build eight 12,000-ton cargo boats at $140 a ton, and it is reported that Pacific Coast shipyards are figuring on construction costs as low as $150. At this figure the United States will be able to construct ships cheaper than they can be built elsewhere in the world. No war industry in this country was developed faster or on a larger scale.

YARDS ACTIVE LAST YEAR.

During the twelve months ended by March, 1919, a total of 2,056 merchant vessels of 3,225,521 gross tons, including a small tonnage for foreign owners, were built in the United States and officially numbered. Seagoing vessels aggregated 538 of 2,178,929 gross tons, seagoing wooden vessels 436 of 916,037 gross tons, and the remainder were non-seagoing craft. Five concrete ships of 4,419 gross tons were numbered.

So far this year shipbuilding has been proceeding at about the same rate as during 1918, as the Bureau of Navigation during the first 1919 quarter officially numbered 136 steel seagoing vessels of 580,648 gross tons and 107 wooden ships of 227,440 tons, making a total seagoing tonnage of 808,088 gross for three months. This is at the rate of 3,252,352 a year. Non-seagoing vessels officially numbered 210, with tonnage totalling 27,683 gross.

PEACE FREIGHT RATES HIGH.

British shipping constructed during the four years of war totaled about 2,000,000 tons only, according to Sir Eustace Deyncourt, director of naval construction. The cost to Britain was between $1,250,000,000 and $1,500,000,000.

Peace will increase the demand for shipping. This is indicated by the advance of freight rates to Europe as soon as it was reported that negotiations at Paris were nearing conclusion. The rate from New York to France went up $35 to $40 a ton. Recently British lines operated by the International Mercantile Marine Company raised their rates to England from $1 to $1.50 per hundred pounds.

COTTON PRICES ADVANCE AT MARKET OPENING

New York, April 10.—Early trading in cotton was not so active as yesterday, but the cotton market had a good undertone at the start today, with old-style contracts 15 points higher and new 10 to 25 up. The chief early buyers were New Orleans, Liverpool and trade houses, while Wall Street interests operated both ways. The market soon lost part of its early strength, declining under Wall Street and local liquidation until at the end of the first twenty minutes active months were only about 5 points net higher on new styles.

Opening prices were: May, old 24.95, new 26.00; July, old 23.60 bid, new 24.40; August, old 23.25 bid, new offered 22.75; October, new 22.75; December, new 22.38.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, April 10.—Corn opened unchanged to 1¼c lower. Oats were unchanged to ⅛c lower. Provisions opened lower. Opening prices were: Corn—May, $1.56¾ to $1.56⅝; July, $1.50⅝ to $1.51; September, $1.44⅜ to $1.45. Oats—May, 68 to 68⅜c; July, 67c; September, 63⅝c. Pork—July, $47. Lard—July, $28.50. Ribs—July, $25.40.

New York Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, April 10.—The sub-treasury gained $216,000 from the banks on Wednesday, making the cash net gain since Friday $2,017,000.

SWIG PURCHASES PURITAN TRUST CO. STOCK

Merge With Tremont Trust Co. in Short Time Likely

A merger of two Boston trust companies is probable as the result of a financial deal whereby Simon Swig, vice-president and manager of the Tremont Etrust Company, of No. 14 State street, purchased practically the entire stock of the Puritan Trust Company of No. 33 Court street.

Mr. Swig bought the stock as trustee for President Asa P. French and other member of the executive board of the Tremont Trust Company.

The new stockholders took possession of the Puritan Trust Company premises and books today at the opening of business. The Puritan is eighteen years old and has deposits aggregating more than $4,000,000. Frederick W. Stockman is president and treasurer, and among the directors are William A. Bancroft and A. C. Ratshesky of the United States Trust Company.

The fact that the purchasers of the Puritan Trust Company stock are principally officers of the Tremont Trust Company makes it practically assured that a merger will be perfected within a short time.

The Puritan Trust Company now occupies the first and second floors and the merged company probably will occupy the entire four floors of the building.

The Tremont Trust Company was organized about five years ago and recently its deposits passed the $4,000,000 mark.

DEMAND FOR COPPER METAL IS STILL SLACK

No improvement in the copper metal market is reported. Inquiries by consumers for a small tonnage show that they expect deliveries at 15¼ cents a pound. This is ¼ cent under normal quotations by the largest selling interests. Contracts for deliveries at 15 cents have recently been made by small dealers.

In regard to export trade, little business may be expected by Americans until European stocks are liquidated. The British government has been selling its war accumulations of copper in the open market and charging the loss to war costs.

The French government is reluctant to sell metal which cost it 26 cents "c. i. f." and not only asked French consumers the equivalent of 27 cents a pound, but put an embargo into force to prevent underselling by American producers. But the French price has been reduced to 17 cents a pound. The Italian government has also lowered its price.

Oil Refinery Capacity

According to the Bureau of Mines, the crude oil refining capacity of oil refineries in this country is 1,295,115 barrels a day, while production in the United States in 1918 was about 900,000 barrels a day. There are 283 refineries in all.

City Loans

Kidder, Peabody & Co. and Salomon Bros. & Hutzler of New York have jointly purchased $3,000,000 city of Boston notes, due November 1, 1919. The notes are issued in anticipation of taxes.

Newton, Mass., has awarded to Salomon Bros. & Hutzler at 4.58 per cent discount plus $7 a temporary loan of $250,000, issued in anticipation of taxes, maturing November 5, 1919.

Brockton has sold a $200,000 temporary loan maturing November 28 to Salomon Bros. & Hutzler at 4.58 per cent plus $3.50 premium.

Taunton, Mass., has sold a loan of $200,000, dated April 8 and maturing November 18, 1919, to Blake Bros. & Co., at 4.68 discount, plus $2 premium.

WESTINGHOUSE SEEKING MORE EXPORT TRADE

After he returned from Europe Chairman Guy E. Tripp of the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company made the following statement:

"Subject to the successful accomplishment of certain legal details in Europe, which, however, may be waived by the Westinghouse company if thought desirable, an agreement has been reached with certain important British interests under which the Westinghouse company sells for cash its British holdings and enters into a commercial alliance looking to the development of export business.

"The plan will be instituted immediately, upon the assumption that the whole deal will be consummated on the basis above indicated."

Help Uncle Sam to Curb the Pedlers of Unsafe Securities

The Federal Trade Commission is wisely advising citizens everywhere to get the names and addresses of all persons and companies offering speculative or doubtful stocks and securities, particularly if in exchange for Liberty Bonds or War Savings Stamps. It asks that these, with copies of the literature, be mailed to it at Washington for investigation.

There is a reason for this action by the Federal authorities. It was made clear by Mr. Hearst when, in this newspaper, December last, he wrote:

> United States Government bonds are the best and safest investment in the world.
> Nothing can happen to the United States if our people intelligently mind their own business and cultivate their own Business.
> And nothing can happen to the bonds of the United States except a constant in crease in their value as peace conditions are fully restored.
> If the millions of small investors, however, do not fully appreciate the value of their investment in Liberty Bonds, there are thousands of wildcat promoters who do appreciate the value of these bonds and who will try their utmost to get the bonds away from these patriotic small investors and try to substitute for the bonds some worthless stock in a glittering promotion scheme that promises much, but in the end pays little or nothing.
> The small investors of America should keep their money in Government bonds.
> The benefits thus acquired will reach not only throughout the whole people in this generation, but in generations to come.

The timeliness as well as the soundness of this advice are proved by the fact that many small investors in these absolutely safe Government securities are daily being wheedled by honey-tongued pedlers of worthless or questionable stocks or bonds into making a trade. Thus they lose doubly.

They lose the savings they had invested in a FIRST-CLASS security; and they lose the habit of investing wisely.

It is a duty of the Government to curb this defrauding of its citizens, and the Government will perform this duty if you will help.

You can help by letting it know of any instance of this mean swindling.

But you can help best by holding on to your safe Liberty Bonds.

Lawrence Mill Owners Should Follow Advice of the Governor

Governor Coolidge is to be warmly commended for his advice to the Lawrance mill owners to meet the strikers halfway and agree, as they have done, to refer the differences between them to arbitration by Henry B. Endicott. If the mill owners persist in their refusal to arbitrate, on the worn-out pretence of "nothing to arbitrate," which is always the plea of the party consciously in the wrong, they will find that the tide of public opinion, already of late setting strongly in favor of the strikers, will speedily rise to a height that will overwhelm them.

Captious criticisms of Mr. Endicott, such as some representative mill owners are indulging in as an excuse for their refusal to accept him as the umpire of the dispute, will only serve to strengthen the growing belief that they are consciously in the wrong. The American defies such critics to point out a single instance in which Mr. Endicott, himself a large employer of labor, has decided unfairly, or has recommended any concession to labor that he himself has not been ready to grant to his own employes as a matter of sound business policy as well as of justice and humanity. If there are peculiar conditions in the Lawrence situation that make it unwise or unfair to grant to the employes of the Lawrence mills the eight-hour day without reduction in weekly earnings, a concession which they see being awarded in so many other industries, and often with no increase in production costs or diminution of business profits, Mr. Endicott can be trusted to recognize such unusual conditions in his decision, and to make them clear to the strikers as well.

It is true that the mill owners have already lost the great advantage in the morale of their employes which they might have obtained, if, like Richard H. Long, Charles Sumner Bird, Henry Ford, Henry B. Endicott and other broad-minded captains of industry they had voluntarily adopted a liberal and fraternal attitude toward their employes, thereby creating among them a personal interest in the business success of the textile industries and a personal loyalty toward the management instead of the rankling animosity and vindictive memories of past hardships and privations with which, it is to be feared, too many of the strikers will return to their places in the mills after a struggle so long continued and so severe. This, however, is a handicap for which the mill owners, or at least those among them who so far have been accepted as leaders by the rest, have themselves to thank, and fortunately it can be overcome in no very long time by a prompt and frank reversal of policy and a liberal and persistent effort to establish a genuine community of interest between employers and employes.

Seldom have the liberal and the illiberal attitudes of mind been more forcibly contrasted than in the opposing statements published in Wednesday's American from Governor Coolidge and from mill owners who repudiate his advice. The Governor, on learning that the employes have agreed to accept Mr. Endicott's terms, namely to go back to work at once and to abide by his decision whether it be for or against them, declared:

> It seems to me that these terms are entirely fair and ought to be acceptable to everybody. The great majority of the people in the industries at Lawrence are honest, hard-working people who on account of the conditions there now are suffering a good deal of hardship. They are law-abiding citizens and entitled to the co-operation of their employers.

But back from the mill owners come the old-time, stereotyped war-cries, "We have nothing to arbitrate." "We cannot afford any concessions." "Arbitration would mean awarding to the workers whatever they demand." "We are satisfied with the situation—we are winning anyway."

The American takes very little stock in the plea that the mill owners cannot afford the concessions asked, especially since we remember that the same plea was raised in 1912, and yet the mills, after losing the strike and conceding much more than the strikers originally asked, were enabled not only to recoup the losses of the seven weeks' strike, but to report to their shareholders one of the most profitable years in their history. AT ALL EVENTS, MR. ENDICOTT CAN BE TRUSTED TO WEIGH ALL THE FACTS AND COME TO A JUST AND INTELLIGENT CONCLUSION. IF THE MILL OWNERS DENY HIM THE OPPORTUNITY TO PASS UPON THEM, THE LEGISLATURE SHOULD STEP IN AND INVESTIGATE THE SITUATION FROM TOP TO BOTTOM WITHO[illegible] MOMENT'S AVOIDABLE DELAY.

More Truth Than Poetry

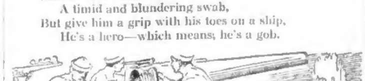
By James J. Montague

THE GOB

ASHORE he seems always a stranger—
A person who doesn't belong;
There's a look in his eye that is wistful and shy,
As he quietly swishes along.
He seems to be seeking for gold-braids
To order him back on the job;
What right has he here in a world full of cheer,
A deck-swabbing, brass-shining gob?

HE looks at the city with wonder,
The city he once knew so well,
Like one half afraid he'll be caught in a raid
And landed, biff! bang! in a cell.
He may be a lion for courage—
You can gamble he usually is—
But his look seems to say, as he goes on his way:
"So this is a city! Gee whizz!"

BUT once get him back on his vessel,
And once get the vessel to sea,
Set his feet on the deck and his cap on his neck,
And a far different fellow is he.
Ashore he's a fish out of water,
A timid and blundering swab,
But give him a grip with his toes on a ship,
He's a hero—which means, he's a gob.



Ye TOWN GOSSIP

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

By K. C. B.

Dear K. C. B.—Do you remember a long time ago you wrote about some boys who lived opposite you, and one of them used to play the piano until all hours of the night and annoy you and keep you awake, and then after the noisest night of all, when the piano played until almost daylight and you got no sleep, the music stopped and the young men disappeared. And the next night it was quiet and the curtains were drawn and on the next morning when you looked out of your window there was a service flag across the street with four blue stars.

Then you wrote that you missed the noise and were sorry that you let it disturb you and wished that you might hear it again some day.

The reason I remember what you wrote is because I'm the guy that used to play the piano and annoy you and keep you awake, but I won't do it any more because I have been "over there" with the 27th Division, and at St. Quentin I lost my left arm, and now I'm back and I'm glad and I don't care if I did lose my left arm. I might have been killed, and, anyway, I have no kick coming, because I'm right handed.

E. J. M.

I thank you.

WHERE THIS boy lived.
AND WHERE he tells about.
IT WAS a boarding house.
WHERE YOUNG men came.
AND STAYED a little while.
AND WANDERED on.
AND I didn't know them.
BUT I used to see them.
* * *
AND THEY were nice young men.
AND SAT on the steps.
AND WEREN'T noisy.
AND IN the Spring.
TWO YEARS ago.
WHEN THE days were lengthening.
AND THE evenings.
WERE TAKING on warmth.
THERE WAS one of them.
* * *
WHO WOULD sit inside.
WHERE THE piano was.
AND OUT from the window.
AND FLOATING up.
TO WHERE my window was.
THERE'D COME old tunes.
AND DOWN on the steps.
WHERE THE boarders sat.
THEY'D SING a little.
AND THEN it would change.
TO A bit of rag.
AND SO it went.
UNTIL ONE night.
THERE WAS a party.
* * *
AND THE piano played.
AND ALWAYS rag.
UNTIL EARLY morn.
AND I laid awake.
AND A few nights later.
IT HAPPENED again.
AND THEN again.
UNTIL THE final night.
WHEN THEY stayed all night.
AND I made up my mind.
* * *
THAT I'D have to complain
IF THEY kept it up.
* * *
AND THE very next morning.
CAME THE service flag.
AND THE boys were gone.
AND I wanted them back.
AND WANTED the noise.
AND ONE has come back.
AS THE letter says.
* * *
AND I hope he can play.
WITH HIS one good arm.
AND COME back again
* * *
TO THE boarding house.

I THANK you.

CHIMPANZEE MAY DO THE WORK OF WORLD

Here's a Novel Remedy for Labor Ills!

SCIENCE'S latest discovery is that the ape can THINK.

Now that may seem to be a dry statement of fact—or it may seem to you a fruitless flight of imagination. As to the latter, Science does not imagine things, you know—Science never speaks till it KNOWS. And as to the first statement, there is much more in it than may appear in your philosophy.

If the ape can THINK, he can be taught to WORK. And if he can be taught to work, he can be made to do the drudgery of the world.

Picture it to yourself! MAN left the "white-collar" jobs he likes to do—letting the monkey do the work. White-uniformed chimpanzees, docile and mechanical, sweeping the streets; miner apes shoveling coal; laborer apes digging ditches, weeding cultivated crops and picking fruit!

Such work has already been experimented with by Professor James R. Leamon, and successfully done by apes. The distinguished British naturalist has already had apes picking cocoanuts, plucking chickens, geese and ducks, and operating simple mechanical devices, just as they were instructed to do these things. Recent experiments conducted at Madison Square Garden, where recently Sally, the largest chimpanzee in captivity, and the "ape man"—the strange "wild man of Gaboon," one of the few survivors of the pygmy race of men in Africa—were brought together in the Ringling-Barnum & Bailey Circus, showed that Sally, the monkey, forerunner of man, actually has more intelligence and a better-developed brain than this most primitive of the human species!

The results of these experiments, interestingly given, form one of the most fascinating articles in the Magazine Section of next Sunday's Advertiser and American, which is always replete with good things.

Warning: If you want to be happy, never, NEVER marry a Broadway star, says Fred Gresham, erstwhile husband of the famous and beautiful Lillian Lorraine. "I was a husband in name only," is the plaint the ex-husband makes, in a signed story in next Sunday's paper. "Whatever the words of the marriage ceremony mean to most brides—they mean nothing to a pet of the footlights. The man who marries a star of Broadway is a fool!"

Then there are the bewitching "siren gowns"—something new under the sun, by the famous "Lucille" (Lady Duff-Gordon); a worth-while article by Mrs. Christine Frederick, the household expert, on "the outdoor nursery"; the usual very unusual and irresistible Comics; and a particularly lovely full-color page drawing, "The Perfect Confidante," by Henry Clive. What would YOU say the perfect confidante would be?

Wait till next Sunday and see!

IN WHICH DIRECTION IS YOUR MIND DRIFTING?

Of all the things you heard today, what made the biggest impression?

Was it some frivolous thing or some amusing story rather than a thought or sentence helpful and elevating to you?

Suppose you keep an inventory for a week with this thought in mind—to sift out from each day the ideas, incidents and conversations which you have had and which come back to you the strongest when you have completed the day.

You are going to be surprised.

It may shock you to find out which way your mind is drifting.

It should shock you if you find your mental equipment, which is as good as the best, is finding its food in polluted sources.

Do you know that it is actually hard for you to remember plain facts necessary to learn in taking personal care of your automobile, for instance, or to retain the principles which are involved in any serious study you are pursuing?

But the salient points of some funny story—you don't forget!

For shame — and you will agree that you should take an inventory more often and profit by what you find out.

Patience, Plus An Idea
Sad Soda Fountain
Clemenceau's Lesson

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1919.)

Men, grown-up children, use, in grown-up fashion, children's methods. The little boy says, "I will take my toys and go home if you don't play my way."

Mr. Wilson in Paris says, "I've sent for my big ship the George Washington, and I shall go home, if you don't play my fourteen points."

What the President says he means, and will do.

The idea was that Mr. Wilson was to come over, sleep in Buckingham Palace, and say "Yes" to everything. He slept in Buckingham Palace peaceably, but he doesn't say "Yes." He will bring back to the United States a peace league with the things that this country wants in it, or he won't bring any and he will be back soon.

The national debt of France, says Clemenceau, is forty billions. Every French man, woman and child is mortgaged for $1,000. The baby born in France tomorrow owes that sum and must pay yearly $55 interest, a gigantic sum in France, where they understand the value of money and of things that money buys.

Clemenceau wants the Germans to pay the debt. He says, "I would rather have Germany pay on account forty millions a year for a hundred years, than have the French people pay."

He is fighting to get that. It is decided that France will get the first five German billions.

Bolshevism is many things and never dull. It invents new ideas rapidly. Budapest has just sentenced Stephen Farkar to death for spreading false news. It wasn't very serious false news, either.

Hungarian Bolshevism, and American democracy, can learn about wise punishment from France and Clemenceau. A fool shot Clemenceau, nearly killed him, and was sentenced to death.

First Clemenceau had the three bullet holes in his overcoat neatly darned and went on wearing the coat, saying, "This is no time for extravagance."

Second, he asked the people to oblige him and do nothing so foolish as to kill the other man, since he hadn't succeeded in killing Clemenceau. He had the man's punishment commuted from death to ten years' imprisonment.

Here we sentence a man to twenty years for talking illegally.

In France a man gets ten years for putting a bullet into the chief of the nation.

France has had more experience than we have had with revolutions and what they mean. When we are older, like France, we shall know more.

Here is news full of sad humor. The Union League Club looks across Fifth avenue, in New York city, at the two brown-stone houses that Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont made Mr. William K. Vanderbilt build when she was Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt. That Union League Club has ordered a soda water fountain for what Mr. Tad calls "the sweet dry and dry." There is nothing sadder in history except the picture of Nebuchadnezzar eating grass as an ox in place of his former royal diet.

A group of interesting women sailed for France and the International women's congress at Berne yesterday. They included Jane Addams, Florence Kelly and Jeannette Rankin, the only female Congressman that the United States ever had. Miss Rankin will write about her travels and the women's congress for this newspaper.

Mr. Woolworth, five and ten-cent man, is dead. He made his fortune by putting stores next to big merchants whose advertising brought him customers.

Young men may learn from Woolworth that beginning at the bottom and working to the top is possible in almost any line, if you don't get discouraged.

Mr. Woolworth worked for three dollars a week, gradually went up to ten dollars a week, and was then discharged. He tried farming, failed. He went back to the store, had charge of a counter piled with five and ten-cent bargains, and had an IDEA.

Be industrious, patient, and you can do fairly well. Have industry and patient, plus AN IDEA, and you will do very well.

Mr. Woolworth left forty millions. If he had had less he wouldn't have left it so soon. He was young comparatively, but big fortunes, like other heavy loads, shorten life.

The Kaiser, perhaps, had a less troubled sleep last night, for it was decided by the four great powers that capital punishment shall not be inflicted. The Kaiser won't be killed, but is to be "brought under Allied control." Not death, but the humiliation of the guillotine or the noose is probably what the man feared. "Under Allied control" his life will be interesting, as was Napoleon's at St. Helena, always hoping that something would happen.
